HUNTER KNOCKED OUT BY ANGRY WILD GOOSE

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—An angry wild goose felled its hunter near here Sunday.

The bird, winged by a shotgun blast, took aim at its attacker and struck him in the stomach, knocking him unconscious.

When the hunter recovered five minutes later, the goose had been finished off by a better marksman.

The hunter, whose name wasn't disclosed, suffered a solar plexus hemorrhage—and abrasions to his dignity.

Greeted by Hillary, Who Will Help
Party to Completion of Epic Trek

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his 11-man British ground team reached the South Pole today and announced they firmly intend to press on to the other side of Antarctica.

DR. VIVIAN FUCHS
... two-day rest

Tough and fit despite the gruelling 57-day trek across more than 900 miles of snow and ice, the British explorer said he would go on as planned to Scott Base, on McMurdo Sound, for the first overland crossing of the continent. He will leave in two days.

Fuchs and his team left Shackleton Base on the South American side of the pole Nov. 24 for their unprecedented 2,100-mile crossing of Antarctica.

Rear Admiral George Dufek, chief of the U.S. base at the pole, and Sir Edmund Hillary, who reached the pole overland 16 days ago, were on hand to greet the 12 Britons who had travelled on terrain no man had set foot on before.

HEARTY WELCOME

The party reached the pole at 1:08 p.m. (5:08 p.m. PST) Sunday.

Hillary and Dufek met the Britons a mile from the polar base. As the tractor train pulled up with flags flying, Hillary advanced to greet Fuchs.

"Hello, Bunny," said the conqueror of Mt. Everest, and the two men shook hands warmly. Fuchs appeared surprised by the welcoming party and battery of cameras.

"I say—this is rather unexpected," the veteran, 49-year-old explorer commented.

The hearty exchange of greetings appeared to discount reports of coolness between Hillary and Fuchs. These spread when the New Zealander, after reaching the pole recommended that Fuchs not try to make the trans-Arctic crossing because of impending bad weather. Fuchs replied he would complete his mission.

It was announced earlier that Hillary would accompany the Fuchs party at least part of the remaining trek across the continent.

Justice Kellock Resigns

OTTAWA (CP)—Resignation of Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock as a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada and appointment to that court of Ronald Marland, Edmonton lawyer, were announced today by Justice Minister Fulton.

Mr. Justice Kellock, 64, has resigned for health reasons, effective Jan. 15. He has been a member of the high court since 1944.

The appointment of Mr. Marland fills a western vacancy on the nine-judge bench caused by the death last July of Mr. Justice Henry G. Nolan.

No successor to Mr. Justice Kellock was named.

Canadian Jobless Total at 386,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians without jobs and seeking work totalled 386,000 at Dec. 15, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

The figure was up from 292,000 at Nov. 16 and compared with 196,000 at mid-December of 1956.

Employment in mid-December of last year was estimated at 5,580,000, about 118,000 lower than the previous month but 25,000 higher than a year earlier.

The 118,000-person decline in employment was the sharpest for any one month during the last several years, the bureau said. There also was an increase in the number of persons working part-time.

Not included in the jobless total were 29,000 workers on temporary layoffs.

A good part of the sharp reduction in the work force was attributed to layoffs in motor vehicles and parts plants and an unusually short pulp cutting season.

The figures are based on a sampling of 30,000 households taken periodically by the statistics bureau.

The bureau's estimate was accompanied by figures from National Employment Service showing that at Dec. 12 there were 570,674 persons registered for work with that government agency compared with 552,044 a month earlier and 314,401 in mid-December, 1956.

The latest figures given the Commons by Labor Minister Starr, however, showed 754,640 registration at Jan. 2, against 505,357 at Dec. 5, 1957, and 436,163 at Jan. 3, 1957.

The employment service figures contain a proportion of persons who have jobs and are seeking a change of work, though the proportion has never been officially estimated.

While the bureau's estimate showed December employment down from November, it also showed the number of persons with jobs in December as greater than December, 1956. The figures were, respectively, 5,580,000 and 5,555,000.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Almighty Father, we have heard the mighty roaring of the waves on the shore. We have seen the fearful storm clouds driving ships like chaff before. Thou hast moved upon the waters of the ceaseless, restless sea. Fill our hearts with holy yearning till we find our peace in Thee. Amen.

Crucial Commons Sitting Opens; Chamber Crowded

Alice at Play

Alice, B.C.'s famous white killer whale, returned to Victoria waters briefly Sunday with two black buddies, and the three mammals staged a thrilling aquatic show for some 60 spectators near Harling Point. Stunts included everything from blowing water to standing on their heads with their tails out of the water. It was a hey-day for photographers, who managed to get some rare pictures of the white whale. T. L. Sinclair got this one. (See story on page 15.)

Decision Left Up to Pearson

BULLETIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson said today he will move an amendment to the government's motion to go into supply. This would constitute a motion of non-confidence in the Progressive Conservative government.

His announcement was greeted by wild cheering and thumping of desks on both sides of the Commons.

(From CP and UP Dispatches)

OTTAWA — The biggest Commons audience since the 1956 pipeline debate today watched new Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson take his new seat as official opposition leader.

Desk-thumping and cheers greeted the entrance of Mr. Pearson. He took the seat occupied until Saturday by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. The former prime minister today sat at Mr. Pearson's immediate left.

The public galleries were packed to overflowing. The galleries have 576 seats. Almost another 100 persons were standing behind the seats and others were waiting in the corridors for an opportunity to enter.

The big crowd came partly to see Mr. Pearson assume his position of opposition leader but more to find out whether the Liberals would try to overthrow the government.

After tributes had been exchanged, Mr. Pearson told a packed Commons he hopes to emulate Prime Minister Diefenbaker in one respect. That is, he said, "to stay in this position as short a time as he was successful in."

This was a reference to the fact that after Mr. Diefenbaker was elected Progressive Conservative leader in December, 1956, he led his party to victory six months later, and became prime minister June 21, 1957.

Mr. Pearson said his new post is not a case of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, "but out of the convention into the Commons—which is a good place to be."

He said he is dedicated to the removal from office of the Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the position of prime minister taxes health and strength, and then added quickly: "But I'm back here better than ever."

The prime minister was confined to bed most of last week because of a severely strained back.

No Caucus Vote Taken on Vital Issue

Earlier today a Liberal parliamentary caucus left in the hands of Mr. Pearson the decision on whether to try to topple the Diefenbaker government this afternoon and force a general election.

Informants said after the closed meeting of senators and Commons members that individuals expressed varied views but that no vote on the critical issue was taken and that it was left to Mr. Pearson to decide between the 12:50 p.m. (9:50 p.m. PST) breakup of the caucus and the opening of the House sitting this afternoon.

Mr. Pearson, emerging from the meeting, said: "Any decision I reach as the result of the caucus will be made between now and the opening of the sitting and announced to the Commons."

He said he intended to spend the intervening time in contemplation in his office.

Caucus informants said Mr. Pearson, chosen leader at the Liberals' national convention here Thursday night, gave the caucus no clue as to how his decision might go.

One source said that, among a variety of MPs addressing the caucus behind guarded doors, a slight majority appeared to favor immediate action by the Liberals to force the Conservatives into an early general election.

But he added that the leaning appeared to be "very slight" in the direction of having Mr. Pearson squeeze the government into dissolution.

The issue that confronted him — and the Liberal Commons members and senators who sat in on the first caucus since last week's leadership convention — was that of seizing the opportunity today to move a vote of non-confidence in the minority Diefenbaker administration that could defeat the government and bring on a general election.

The opportunity was to come early in the sitting this afternoon on a government motion to go into supply for the voting of money for government purposes.

Moving an amendment to a supply motion constitutes a no-confidence vote. If such a motion is moved, the actual house vote on it would not come until Tuesday.

Present party standing is: Conservatives 112 (minus the Speaker), Liberals 106, CCF 25, Social Credit 19, and Independent 2.

'Accurate' Missile By U.S. Before 1960

WASHINGTON (CP)—Major Gen. Bernard Schriever, U.S. Air Force missile chief, predicted Sunday that the United States will have an "accurate enough" 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile ready by the end of 1959.

He told questioners in a TV-radio interview that the missile "will do the job that we have set out for it to do and it will be accurate enough."

Pressed to indicate just how accurate it would be, General Schriever said "This is a security matter which I really can't speak on."

ST. LAURENT NOT RETIRING

OTTAWA (CP)—Retired Liberal leader St. Laurent indicated today he has no immediate intention of stepping completely out of public life. Responding in the Commons to good wishes and expressions of regret at his decision to relinquish his party's leadership, Mr. St. Laurent, who will be 76 Feb. 1, said "I am not taking leave of the House at this moment."

Two B.C. Lawyers Disbarred

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two lawyers, one of whom disappeared on a plane flight last month, have been disbarred for life in British Columbia.

The action was taken Saturday by the benchers of the law society of B.C. against Hugh T. Fitzsimmons of Abbotsford and Harold MacKeen Bisset of White Rock.

Fitzsimmons, who disappeared in a small rented plane Dec. 12 on a flight from Langley to Victoria, was found guilty of "producing false documents which he knew to be false and forged" to the Registrar of Titles in New Westminster, B.C.

M. M. McFarlane, chairman of the benchers' discipline committee, said Fitzsimmons had been served before his disappearance with notice to appear before the benchers.

Bisset was found guilty of misappropriation of a client's money.

SAY, WHO'S FLYING THIS ... ?

Fliers Think Each Other Sick —Fight for Control of Bomber

LONDON (AP)—The story of a pilot and navigator wrestling for the controls of a diving RAF jet bomber, each thinking the other was "drunk" from lack of oxygen has been made public by the air ministry.

A few weeks ago the two-man crew of a Canberra bomber was ordered to take the twin-jet plane up to 35,000 feet. The trouble started at 30,000.

The intercom broke down. The pilot didn't know this. All he knew was that he heard some mumbling from the navigator's end, then his name being called out, and silence.

An explanation flashed into his mind—anoxia, intoxication due to lack of oxygen which occasionally afflicts airmen at a high altitude.

He put the plane into a dive toward denser air, bending over the controls.

The navigator couldn't understand why they should be diving, since they were supposed to go higher. He rushed to the controls and saw the pilot, bending, checking his instruments, and thought he had fallen into a slump.

He grabbed at the controls and the two men wrestled as the plane dived. Unable to win control, the navigator switched on the pilot's emergency oxygen supply, and stepped back to let it take effect. The pilot levelled out the plane at 15,000 feet.

Then the two men looked at each other—and began sorting it all out. They finished sorting it out in the officer's mess, where the story started to get around.

"It seems that they were both just a bit mixed up, I'm afraid," an air ministry spokesman said. He would not reveal the names of the two men.

WIRE BRIEFS

Huge Narcotics Haul

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Egypt's frontier corps today announced discovery of a vast narcotics cache valued at $12,800,000, the biggest in the history of mid-eastern drug traffic. A spokesman said the haul had been buried in the Sinai Desert near El Arish, a Mediterranean coastal town just outside the Gaza Strip.

Vote Still Mystery

CONWAY, P.E.I. (CP)—Rev. Lloyd Henderson, mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man., who polled one vote in the Liberal leadership convention, said today he doesn't know where the one vote came from.

Dynamite at Little Rock

CNR Work Program

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian National Railways announced today that a supplementary winter-work program will go into effect immediately in an effort to avoid any further reduction of employment during the winter. The program will not mean new hirings but it designed to keep the existing labor force employed.

Top Labor Man Dead

LONDON (AP)—Harry James Edwards, 93, a stevedore who became leader of Britain's largest labor union, died at his home Sunday night. Edwards retired as president of the 1,250,000-strong Transport and General Workers' Union in 1947 after 14 years in the post.

SIXTH YEAR

President Eisenhower heralded the anniversary of his sixth year in office today by kicking off a new Republican drive for control of the U.S. Congress. Ike will be guest of honor at a $100-a-plate GOP dinner in Chicago tonight and make a nation-wide TV-radio address.

765 HERE ON SOCIAL ASSISTANCE

Life Is Always Grim For 'Forgotten Few'

(To 765 Victorians on social assistance, life has become grim existence. They are the lowest in the city's social order. To them, a pensioner seems well-loved. In many ways he is, for pensioners receive up to $25 more each month than an unemployed man or woman. City welfare officials feel it is high time the situation was rectified. Their reasons will be given in this series, along with reports of some Victorians who live an "assistance existence.")

By DINAH KERR

Last November the federal government added $9 to old age pension cheques.

Pensioners now receive up to $75 a month. And, says William Hooson, city welfare administrator, people will stop fussing about the needy for a while.

They never remember the "forgotten few."

The "few" are people, who by reason of physical or mental disability, are unemployable. They require social assistance allowances.

Social assistance—that is what the provincial government, which pays 80 per cent, and the municipalities, which pay 20 per cent, call it.

This is what it is—in monthly cash payments to people who have assets of no more than $250 and no income.

Single men and women get $50 a month.

A family of two gets $76.50.

A family of three gets $92.50.

A family of four, $108.50.

Five, $124.50.

Six, $140.50.

Seven, $156.50.

This money, say provincial and municipal authorities, should cover food, shelter and "sundries."

Care for Four on $108.50 Month

Ever try to feed, clothe and shelter a family of four on $108.50 a month, then spread around a little money for "sundries"?

In Victoria alone there are 400 units—765 persons—living on social assistance. They wouldn't know a sundry if it landed in their laps. And nothing comes that easily for the physically and mentally disabled.

The vast majority of single persons involved are over 50 years of age.

They're living in a limbo between the employed and the pensioned. "A lot of them have five or more years to wait for that extra $25," Mr. Hooson said.

The families are mainly women with dependent children. Their husbands have either died or deserted.

The Health and Welfare Centre encourages mothers to stay home where they can care for their families. However, if they work, they are allowed to earn $20 a month without forfeiting their right to social assistance. Three-fourths of their earnings above that amount is de-

Macmillan Has Cold, Denies Snub to Aussie

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today, on his Commonwealth tour and found himself accused of snubbing Australians when his plane stopped off briefly at Sydney.

Taken aback, the British leader said he was in bed with a cold and fast asleep during the Sydney stopover. That was why he did not meet Australia's air minister, F. M. Osborne, who was on hand to greet him.

Macmillan said he would apologize to Osborne. He said he didn't wake up until the plane was 90 minutes out of Auckland.

New Zealand's Prime Minister Walter Nash met Macmillan at the airport. The British leader has already visited India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

Storm Mopup In Maritimes

Death Toll at 5 After Two-Day Pounding; Heavy Damage Reported

HALIFAX (CP)—Danger spots still loomed in Nova Scotia today as the death and damage toll mounted in the aftermath of the Maritimes' worst storm of the season.

SNOW, COLD SWEEP BRITAIN

LONDON (Reuters)—Heavy snow and cold weather swept over most of Britain today, blocking roads and disrupting traffic.

Temperatures were below freezing throughout the country and high winds pushed the snow into drifts that made some roads impassable and all motor travel dangerous.

Scotland and northern England bore the brunt of the storm as the snow spread down from the north before veering off across the English Channel to France.

Snow fell on the southeastern coast and in the Straits of Dover, blotting out all visibility in some places at sea.

Whispering Bandits Rob Cafe Owner

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gang of whispering armed bandits bound and gagged a Chinatown cabaret operator, his wife and sister in their home early today and made off in a car with $4,000 in cash and jewels.

Victims were night club operator Jimmy Lee, 50; his 37-year-old wife and 62-year-old sister. The sister was punched in the chest by one of the bandits when she attempted to resist.

Lee said the raid followed a four-week telephone war of nerves. The telephone would ring every night beginning at midnight and a voice would ask "Is Jimmy there?" Otherwise there would be nothing except "heavy breathing" on the other end of the line.

Lee said his family finally could stand it no longer and he sold his house two days ago.

The bandits, speaking in whispers, gagged Lee and his wife with adhesive tape and tied them to their bed with sheets. Lee's sister got the same treatment in an adjoining bedroom.

Lee said the White House made public a five-line letter in which Eisenhower formally acknowledged receipt of Bulgulian's message. Eisenhower's message, released after the U.S. Embassy in Moscow delivered it to the Soviet foreign office, said:

"I have received your letter of Jan. 8. I believe that I have dealt with the substantive matters which it contains in my message of Jan. 12. Should further study of your letter indicate that additional response is appropriate, I shall communicate with you at a later date."

Eisenhower, in his Jan. 12 letter to Bulgulian, said he would be ready for a meeting of Russian and Western leaders if preliminary groundwork indicated such a conference might be fruitful.

Use Russian Science Data U.S. Advised

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leading American scientist proposed today that the United States cut down waste and advance its own research by making greater use of discoveries by Russia.

Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner, president of Associated Universities Incorporated which carries on research projects, criticized what he said is inadequate government dissemination of science data.

He called for a wide range of federal moves to step up the flow of important information. While U.S. translations of Soviet science writing generally lag, he said, federal bureaus have been stamping secret some public Russian articles they do translate. Thus one Soviet paper was reported translated seven times by different groups, he said.

Berkner's prepared testimony marked the opening of a new series of hearings by the government information subcommittee of the House of Representatives on restrictions on the flow of scientific information.

Grand Forks Blast Probed

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Reports of an explosion near this West Kootenay village late Sunday night were checked by police today.

RCMP inspected the Canadian Pacific Railway track but found no sign of the explosion, which several persons reported hearing at about 11 p.m.

FORGOTTEN FEW

The same rule applies to men with dependents. "We usually overlook the earnings of children," Mr. Hooson said.

Here are some other things that are overlooked.

Of 50, a single person is expected to pay 12.50 a month for shelter.

"I doubt if anyone can find a room for less than $25," Mr. Hooson said. "That leaves $25 for food."

Of $108.50, a family of four is expected to pay $24.50 for shelter and $77.50—63 cents a day per person—for food.

What happens? "They pay more rent and eat less food," he said.

"They move into a low rental district and for the first six months their debts pile up."

"Then they start to get used to living on almost nothing."

"But after the first year, their problems flare up again. The kids' clothing starts to go and they need new shoes. And there's just no money."

Apart from financial worries, the "forgotten few" often have personal troubles, he said.

"Some women have to cope with alcoholic husbands, others with men who cannot hold a job," he said. "In other cases, the children who have been forced into a poor environment get mixed up with trouble-makers."

Or someone in the family gets sick and although people on relief are completely covered under a medical scheme, that doesn't release them from the worry that comes with illness.

Those are just a few of the problems that are facing 765 Victorians, Mr. Hooson said.

Canadian Army Chiefs Study Atomic Warfare

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP)—A four-day study of atomic warfare opened here today, with Canadian Armed Forces, artillery and infantry commanders participating.

The army said Maj. Gen. John M. Rockingham is directing the study, during which concepts of atomic warfare under winter conditions will be discussed. Light aircraft and snow vehicles were to be used for reconnaissance and engineers were to test ice and snow conditions to study the moving of guns and heavy equipment in winter.

Other problems would include defensive tactics, withdrawal and counter-attack under modern battlefield conditions.

Officials of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. are on hand to advise on the movement of reactor equipment across ice-filled water obstacles.

Farm Price Supports Under New Criticism

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Outwardly, Saturday was a day of leisurely debate on the agriculture price supports legislation in the Commons.

The farm price supports bill would permit cabinet discretion in setting 12-month support prices generally, keyed to a 10-year average base price. Minimum floors would be guaranteed on nine specified products at 80 per cent of the base price.

Main CCF and Social Credit criticism was that the legislation does not provide parity prices—supports linked to farmers' production costs and other commodity prices.

Irvin Studer (L-Swift Current, Maple Creek) said both the government measure and the existing Liberal-created price supports statute have good features. Perhaps the government should consider putting the best of both measures into a third bill.

John Charlton, parliamentary assistant for agriculture, said he personally believes the main answer to farmers' selling problems lies in establishment of co-operative marketing boards. But meantime the support bill would help.

He said the legislation is the first ever to include a guaranteed floor price to key products.

Melfort said if the bill is to mean anything, it should include a parity principle.

The Canadian Club of New York does not admit Jews to membership, the external affairs committee was told Saturday.

Ray Lawson, former Canadian consul-general in New York and prime organizer of a largely Canadian syndicate that has an $11,000,000, 27-storey Canada House under construction in Manhattan, told the committee he was not disturbed when the club decided not to rent quarters in the new building.

"The Canadian Club is not a Canadian club," he said.

Asked by Alistair Stewart (CCF, Winnipeg North) about reports he had heard that the club admits no Jews to membership, Mr. Lawson said that is so.

"We couldn't very well put up signs in our building saying, 'no Jews allowed,'" he added.

"I should hope not," said Mr. Stewart.

Tourist Chief Lauds Centennial Promotion

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Fisher, president of the Canadian Tourist Association, has congratulated B.C. centennial organizers for what he called the "best piece of tourist promoting ever seen in North America."

Interviewed Sunday night, Mr. Fisher said the skill with which the year-long celebrations have been engineered and the experience gained will be "of invaluable assistance when Canada herself comes to celebrate her 100th birthday in 1967."

100 PERISHED IN LANDSLIDE

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The death toll from a landslide that swept away the Andean mountain hamlet of Pachaco was reported Sunday to have reached 100.

The disaster occurred last Monday but word of it reached here only Saturday. A priest who escaped walked to a nearby town with the news.

French Seizure Of Arms Scored

Yugoslavs Send Sharp Protest After Ship Intercepted, Searched

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav government today lodged a sharp protest with the French government in connection with what it called "unlawful seizure of cargo from the Yugoslav ship Slovenija."

The official news agency Tanjug said the interception of the ship and removal of cargo by force is contrary to existing laws.

The agency said Deputy Foreign Minister Mladen Ivekovic lodged a sharp protest with the French ambassador to Belgrade demanding immediate restitution of the seized goods and reserving the right of the Yugoslav government to claim damages.

The French announced Sunday they seized 150 tons of arms and ammunition from the Slovenija after French naval units shunted the ship into the Algerian port of Oran. They said the arms, sufficient to equip five battalions, would have found their way to Algerian rebels.

Estimated to be worth $2,000,000 it was the biggest arms haul made during the three-year Algerian rebellion.

After the arms were unloaded, the Slovenija was allowed to proceed. Most of her 30 passengers were Americans.

Boost Rejected At N. Cowichan

DUNCAN (CP)—A request for a 25-cents-an-hour increase across the board by outside employees of the municipality of North Cowichan was turned down in negotiations between the union and the municipality on the weekend.

Counter proposal by the municipality was a renewal of the 1957 agreement so far as it affects wages.

proved and approved around the world

New star in the Orient. The 58 Ford is the first car ever to use the whole world as its test track.

ROUND-THE-WORLD WONDER AT A DOWN-TO-EARTH PRICE

THERE'S never been a Ford like this before! Just try it. One ride and you'll wonder how such a fine car could cost so little. Most people guess too high on the 58 Ford price—yet, Ford sells the lowest priced car of the low price three.

A brand new look. There's nothing newer in the world of styling! Styling that wowed Paris. New "sculptured in steel" beauty that matched the classical perfection of Athens. Stand by to be envied, when you drive the 58 Ford.

New Interceptor V-8 power. The world's leading V-8 maker brings you a unique new V-8 for 58. Precision Fuel Induction makes the powerful difference... gives you more power and far better gas mileage than ever before. And Ford brings you Precision Fuel Induction... the most important V-8 improvement in 25 years.

You get style plus economy in the new 58 Ford. And it is yours for the low, low Ford price—with every ounce of glamour, power and performance included. So, why pay more? Come in and pick up your keys at your Ford Dealer's today.

With all that's new for a world of difference

You'll be ahead with Ford's new Interceptor V-8 and Precision Fuel Induction. Gives you up to 303 hp. Smoother power... more power... from less gas! The secret is Precision Fuel Induction, a remarkable new carburetor, fuel feeding, and combustion system.

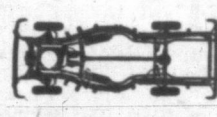

You get up to 15% more gas savings with new Cruise-O-Matic Drive teamed with the new Interceptor V-8. New D1 position, used for normal driving, lets you move smoothly—with just a touch of your toe—from brisk, solid-feeling take-offs right up to cruising speeds.

You'll steer with a feather touch with Ford's new Magic-Circle Steering. Nothing rolls like a ball, and that's the secret of Ford's handling ease. Free-moving steel balls in the steering mechanism are virtually friction-free... give you the closest thing yet to power steering!

Beneath Ford's beauty—the "Inner Ford"

Solid reason for that big car ride

You'll ride in safety, surrounded by new strength—proved and approved around the world. Every Ford is built around the rugged "Inner Ford" that puts "beef" into its beauty. The husky contoured frame is welded, braced, and bonded to form one incredibly tough unit.

Canada's most powerful modern 6 cylinder engine—the new Ford Mileage Maker Six—gives you the sort of power and performance you expect to find only in an 8 cylinder engine. New improved unit design carburetor provides better fuel-air mixing for greater economy. And new spark control valves assure snappier performance on regular fuel. All this is yours in the 58 Ford—the lowest priced car of the low price three.

Six or V-8 the going is great

New Look at Education

BRITISH COLUMBIA HAS called for a searching re-examination of the machinery and purposes of its educational system—the first of its kind in more than a quarter-century.

In the light of developments since 1925 such a reassessment is necessary. Over the years public opinion has been restive on certain features of the schooling given to our young people. Controversy has—as it always should—accompanied changes in courses and attitudes which have influenced public education.

Now, with humanity in the space age, the objectives of education should be evaluated in terms of future needs and on the basis of those aims which have been taken to be constant.

The task before the Royal Commission announced by education minister Leslie Peterson—a commission headed by Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of British Columbia and including Mr. John E. Liersch and R. P. Walrod—is exacting.

In the course of their hearings and later deliberations, the commission members must weigh the demands of the times for better preparation of young students for advanced work in science. They must determine to what degree conventional, even traditional, ideas of a well-rounded education fit into concepts of living in the latter half of the 20th Century. They must consider the type of training needed by young people entering an era of high specialization. They must keep constantly before them the influences of certain types of education on the individual and on the society in which he lives.

In more specific fields, the commission will be required to determine the advantages and disadvantages which have become apparent since British Columbia, with other provinces and states, felt the impact of so-called "progressive" ideas and methods.

It will doubtless consider the virtues and defects of the junior high school, and by terms of reference already indicated, will be asked for opinion on the high school system currently in use.

One of the pressures of the times—and one which will unquestionably be felt by the commissioners—is the present recognition of the fact that more children must be prepared in elementary and secondary schools to proceed to university. Unless this preparation is expanded, British Columbia and Canada cannot expect to have the number of graduates they need to keep up with other countries pushing ahead by developing trained minds.

By terms of the appointment the commission is denied jurisdiction to study broad issues of educational finance. It is not, however, prevented from giving consideration to certain cost factors in the system.

The breadth of the field open to it should provide the commission with ample opportunity to hear and pass judgment on the very healthy criticisms which surround educational matters in British Columbia.

The members have been chosen with care. No one can foretell what the outcome of their investigations and study will be. But one point is certain. No matter what they may recommend, they will not please everyone. They should not try to.

As long as the spirit of democracy exists, there will be room for differences of opinion on education. The re-examination of British Columbia's system will not resolve them. It should, however, be highly valuable in pointing to new directions, new emphasis on certain features of education and, it is safe to assume, re-emphasis on some of the material which many believe to have been treated too lightly in recent years.

The commission will certainly not be faced with "too little for the mind."

Curfew Alternative

PEOPLE IN THIS COMMUNITY very directly concerned with the behaviour of teenagers have rendered judgment on the question of a curfew.

Reduced to bald terms, their statements say it won't work.

It won't work because there are not enough police officers to enforce it thoroughly. And even if enforcement were possible, the penalty for violation of the curfew is so light it is no more than a tap on the wrist.

Apart from this, enforcement of regulations clearing the streets of young people after a specific hour—and not a very late one at that—would impose curbs on decently behaved youngsters going about their lawful affairs. It is true that under any curfew the latter could claim exemption on proof of the propriety of their presence on the streets. But there are very few occasions under Canadian law when the innocent have to assume the burden of proof.

The interesting development in the latest suggestion for handling teenagers is the repetition of a plea for expanded probation service.

This was a recommendation underscored by the Gillie committee whose investigations into local juvenile delinquency were pursued last year under the auspices of the Community Welfare Council.

Members of that committee were impressed continually by opinion from informed sources that an adequate probation service could not only cope more effectively than most available agencies with problems arising from youthful misbehaviour, but could, in many cases, forestall them.

The remarks of social workers on the question of enforcing a curfew and alternative methods of dealing with delinquency among juveniles in this area re-emphasize the point.

Probation officers, of course, cost money. So do police officers, and there would have to be many more of the latter to make a curfew work. But when the economics of efforts to cope with juvenile misbehaviour are considered, certainly one point deserves primary consideration. It concerns the savings that could be made if the depredations of youngsters could be eliminated or greatly reduced.

Informed opinion seems to support the view that enlarged probation services could do more for the community in this respect than almost anything other than adequate parents.

Everybody a Spaceman

DR. JAMES G. GAUME, OF THE Martin Company, has suggested to a space medicine symposium at the recent meeting of American Association for the Advancement of Science that the scientific and lay world seems to have ignored an interesting fact.

Everyone, he points out, is a spaceman, travelling on a highly efficient space ship—the world.

The earth, he says, "is a giant space ship hurtling through space with a velocity of 18.6 miles per second. . . On this space ship we live in a closed ecological system sealed off by the earth's gravity from an unfriendly environment of space."

The concept is important because when man embarks on prolonged journeys through space of from two to three weeks duration—he will have to create conditions which the earth space ship provides without man's assistance. Engineers have nothing like the required know-how for such a task at present, Dr. Gaume declares.

'The Rest of 'Er Is Me'

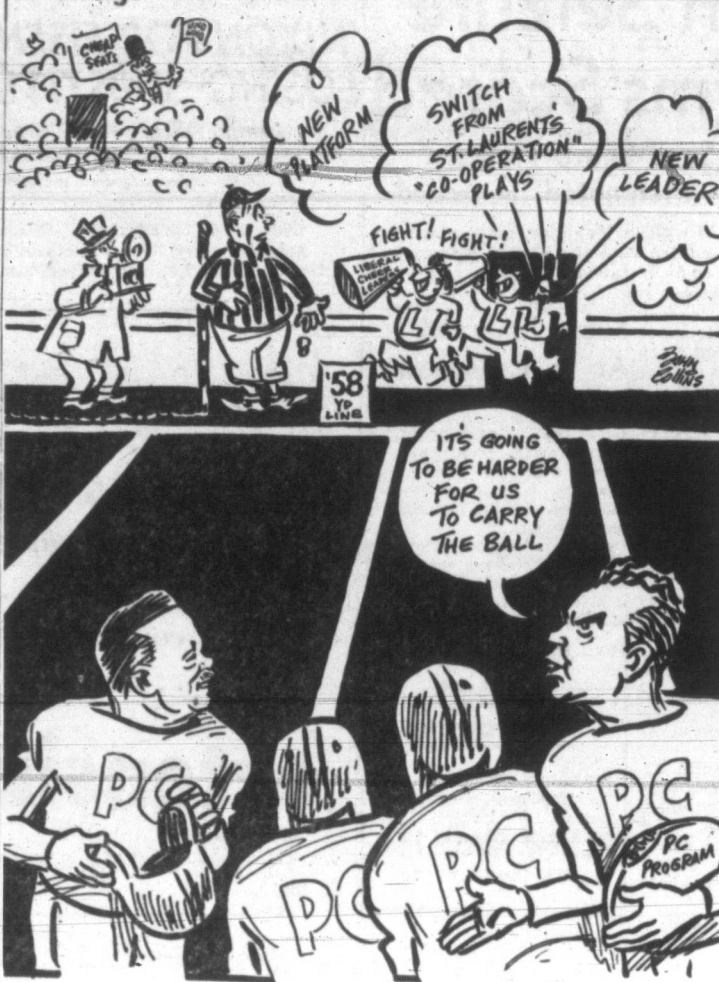

THERE APPEARS TO BE SOMETHING a little casual about the most recent portrait of Princess Margaret.

The artist, it is explained, was able to have his distinguished subject sit only for his work on the head. Because time was pressing on the Princess, another model was secured to pose for the body.

The "body," Cockney showgirl Georgina Moore, says, "It's 'er face, the rest of 'er is me."

Opinions on the work vary. But whatever the criticism, the portrait should avoid one of the most trite of clichés. Looking at the artistic synthesis, nobody, not even the most devoted, will be able to say she's "every inch a princess."

Things Will Be Different in the Second Half

PAINTED FROM LIFE

By B. A. TOBIN

A Fair Likeness

IT may have come as a surprise to many people that while Princess Margaret posed in person for the head of her latest oil portrait, the artist, Mr. Annigoni, employed a stand-in model for the tedious job of posing for the body and its drapery. This may not be cricket but it must certainly be a common artistic stratagem. It raises the interesting question of how many of the paintings we are familiar with are really portraits of the people they purport to be. Is Gainsborough's Blue Boy (Master Buttle) in reality a composite of his model and the little boy next door—maybe even the little girl next door? Is Whistler's Mother actually her face on the neck and body of a neighbor? Did the wife of Zanolli del Giocondo contribute no more to Leonardo's famous Mona Lisa than the smile?

Who's Who?

Such questions open up some disturbing speculation. The answers, whatever they might be, do not affect the artistic worth of the paintings themselves. But they could stir undercurrents of doubt and suspicion in regard to many of the pictures we see.

Does somebody's inspiring picture of Niagara Falls, for instance, represent a true reproduction of the great waterfall; or did the artist merely get the main points on the spot and finish up his canvas by gazing at the tap-water as it trickled over a brick in his kitchen sink?

Whose beautiful face in any given portrait of a lady? Whose body sits on whose horse under whose upraised sword in the statue of a hundred public parks and squares?

Two-Faced

We may never know. Indeed, we might even begin to suspect those works of art of which we have been most sure. Will somebody in this crucial centennial year raise a query as to whether Captain Vancouver contributed more than hat and buttons to his statue on the dome of the Legislative Building? Did some midshipman, or even an Anglicized-looking Indian, provide the rest of the figure?

Or take the famous busts of Laurier and Macdonald in Premier Bennett's office. Did the principals contribute perhaps only lips and nose and a glint in the eye, with the rest filled in from some lesser but adequate visage?

As far back as Biblical times we can find a subterfuge as ingenious as that of Annigoni's currently discussed effort. And Isaac's perplexity was just as great as Isaac's may be today, when he pointed out that "the voice is Jacob's voice but the hands are the hands of Esau."

You begin to see how insidious this thing is. There is no telling where the process may end.

But come to think of it, how many of us can claim freedom from such impersonation? Hardly a baby born has not had attributed to him his mother's eyes, his father's nose, or some other characteristic. We even go beyond physical appearance—a daughter may claim her mother's sense of humor, a son be saddled with his father's temper.

When you come right down to it, we can claim very little of ourselves for ourselves. Like the Cockney model who stood in for Princess Margaret, an innumerable host of forebears might look at us and assert: "The 'ead is 'is, but the rest of 'im is us."

All for One

We are, all of us, merely composites. Our environment and perhaps some inner quirk of our own will serve as the artist to add a few personal touches which we may claim to be us, but all the rest is borrowed from a long line of ancestors going right back to Adam—or, as a scientist has claimed recently, to a hunk of primordial green seaweed.

With such a variety of stand-ins on which to drape our portrait clothes, small wonder that most of us are mixed up, at odds with ourselves, and suffering from split personalities. The pictures we present to the world show the joints and seams where one characteristic has been attached to another, where Ancestor X's generosity has been joined to Ancestor Y's selfishness.

Our robes bulge and drape a little grotesquely here and there, our psychological hands and feet don't quite match up with the rest of the body. As portrait subjects we lack unity, and our portrait artist, environment, is not usually adept enough to overcome these defects. We are painted, warts and all, and they may not even be OUR warts.

Fortunately, we rarely "see ourselves as others see us." Through familiarity and a good preservative varnish of egotism, we come to view our portraits as very handsome works of art, and few of us—when you come right down to it—would willingly change so much as a brush stroke.

Two Pay Cheques

It is really not much good trying to stop "moonlighting," unless something is done about the employment of married women—especially those whose husbands are gainfully employed, and who have a family needing a mother's care.

Much of the cause of unemployment today is selfishness on the part of both labor and capital. One wants too much wages for too little work, the other wants too much profit for too little outlay.

What we really need is to keep the Golden Rule, and see that everyone has a chance of earning a living wage.

Ads in the Mail

Will you allow me to use your valuable space to express an opinion—on the subject of advertisements?

Advertising, like many other things, is overdone on this continent. And I do not think that Her Majesty's Mails should be used for that purpose—especially for delivering unaddressed advertisements.

No doubt the Post Office derives an income from this. All the same I do not think it should be done. I understood that Postman were employed for delivering letters and not for leaving unaddressed advertisements. But perhaps I may be wrong. It would be interesting to hear another opinion on this subject.

Crime and Punishment

In view of so much vandalism going on at the present time, does it not seem that the present form of punishment is not satisfactory?

My attention was called some months ago to a case in this fair Canada of ours, where two youths stole a very good and almost new automobile, drove it some hundreds of miles to a distant city and on the return journey they ran it into a ditch and left it there. Of course the car was insured, and cost $1,700 for repairs.

The youths were found and the sentence was "as soon as they were earning money, all they made over $75 a month was to be paid into the insurance company, until the $1,700 had been paid off."

Of course the youths would need watching as they would be liable to seek work in distant parts, but money talks especially to young people these days and this method would certainly be easier on the taxpayers and may be on car insurance.

Stock-Taking

It won't be long till people the world over will be taking stock to find out what progress they have made financially this past year.

This is a very important and necessary practice but not nearly as important as our spiritual progress and assets which will determine our destiny.

With so many different religions to confuse our minds these spiritual assets are not always easy to distinguish or recognize. However, there are many plain truths in the Bible which should help us to find them.

St. Paul writing to the Philippians says finally: "Brethren whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Of course St. Paul didn't mean to just think about these things only because he was a man who believed in works. What he really meant was, think about these things for they are very important and pass this knowledge on to others.

However, Christ points out even more important things in the 25th chapter of St. Matthew.

In this parable we find the greatest things are the little kindnesses that are done for others, especially those who are less fortunate.

This being true in order to start the new year right we should ask ourselves what we have done in 1957. Have we tried to brighten the corner where we are, or have we encouraged those that have?

In other words, have we been a good neighbor in the true sense of the word?

Deeply Frozen

I recently became the victim of a "Food Plan." The whole deal included an order supposed to be for a three month period. The savings were to be sufficient to pay for the deep freeze unit, at the rate of $34 per month. This was because we were to get "wholesale" prices, "only highest grades of food to be supplied."

We have not yet found anything to indicate a government stamp on any meat or poultry. The pork tastes "old male." The butter has to be scraped where the wrappings are broken. The bacon, supposed to be very lean, actually is very fat.

The whole order costs more from the "Food Plan" than buying at advertised and some regular prices. Yet the saving is supposed to pay for the freezer.

Mr. Editor, surely there is some organization in Victoria which acts as a watch-dog to prevent this sort of thing—or is the city wide open for these people?

If there is an inspector to whom I could go would you please let me know where to get in touch with him?

It might be of interest to state that I am offered a $100 credit for each additional customer I could get!!!

Supporting 'Mike'

Last week Mr. Lester Pearson, the new leader of the Liberal Party of Canada, spoke to a tremendous audience gathered at Ottawa, thanking those responsible for their confidence which made him leader of the Liberal Party, now a strong contender for public support in the coming elections.

He is a fluent and convincing speaker and showed a comprehensive knowledge and understanding of what is demanded of the leader of any political party. He realizes, I think, that the destiny of the country is in his hands, a responsibility few would dare to assume. This support of the electorate must not stop with just putting him in office but must be given continuously, showing he's not standing alone.

"No leadership can maintain a Liberal policy against the will of the vested interests which control the nation's policies." Whatever party is in power at the present, no doubt, will be glad to be relieved of that responsibility and hand it over to a new leader. He has my personal support and would suggest that others who support him will continue it during his term of office. He'll need it.

Ike on the Defensive?

HAS the President's brilliant political instinct, which has been essentially an instinct for reflecting the underlying mood of the country, suddenly deserted him? The question is suggested by the President's reactions to the new situation in which he finds himself. For the President's reactions in the last few months have been surprisingly out of tune with the mood of the country as that mood is sensed by virtually all the returning members of Congress. His reactions have been consistently defensive.

A symptom has been the President's anger at the widespread publicity given to the Gaither report, calling for a major national effort to avoid future catastrophe. It was absolutely inevitable from the start that a report with such sensational implications, in which so many people of known views from outside the administration participated, would become known in substance.

Yet the President, according to reliable report, is furious about what he considers "leaks" from the Gaither Committee. "He's so angry about the leaks," one of his subordinates has remarked, "that he's hardly got around to considering the substance of the report."

Opposite Effect

This Presidential reaction certainly inspired Press Secretary James Hagerty's statement that the Gaither report raised no question about the American defence posture "at this time." The statement was so obviously specious that, again entirely predictably, it had precisely the opposite effect from that intended.

All the President's own public statements in recent months have been similarly defensive in tone. There were, for example, his press conference remarks brushing off the Soviet ICBM tests and the Soviet satellites as of little consequence. And there were his two "chins 'p" speeches, in which, while promising to give the "rough with the smooth," he gave a great deal of smooth and precious little rough.

If only as a practical political matter, taking this defensive stand was precisely calculated (as Vice-President Nixon immediately sensed) to do the prestige of the Eisenhower administration and of the President himself, the maximum of harm.

It gave the Democrats, and indeed all the President's critics and opponents, an opportunity to take the offensive—to belabor not only the administration's past errors and inadequacies, but also its present "lack of a sense of urgency."

Thus the administration's defence policies have become, for the first time, a major national issue, and the Democrats count heavily on it for both the 1958 and 1960 elections.

Suppose that the President, instead of reacting so defensively, had marched to the head of the parade and seized the banner of national defence. Suppose he had really given "the rough with the smooth": suppose that, instead of complaining about "leaks," he had used the Gaither report to support his case for a great national effort; suppose he had told the country of its danger as publicly and frankly as the recent report of the Rockefeller Fund has done.

Little Use

If one supposes General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower doing these things, it is obvious on the face of it that the defence issue would be of remarkably little use to the Democrats.

Why, then, has he not done such things? There are several possible reasons. To take such a stand would involve at least an implicit admission of past error. Although admission of error is rarely politically harmful, and can even be a popular move, there is a natural human disinclination to admit mistakes, perhaps especially in a man unused to criticism.

It is also entirely possible that the President does genuinely and wholeheartedly accept the George Humphrey theory that any markedly greater national defence effort will "destroy the free enterprise system."

Former Secretary of Defence Louis Johnson, after all, liked to call his budgets "Ike I" and "Ike II," and to claim the general's support for his policy of cutting the gizzard out of the national defence in the name of economy.

Perhaps, finally, it is just not in the nature of the President to take such a stand. Perhaps the President so faithfully mirrored the mood of the country when that mood was easy-going and untroubled, because it was natural for him to do so; and now that the mood has changed, it is no longer natural for him to reflect it.

SWISS NOT CONVENING
SUMMIT MEET FOR REDS

BERN (AP)—Switzerland told the Soviet Union today it will not take the initiative to convene a new summit meeting in Geneva at this time.

A note handed to the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow was Switzerland's reply to a letter received from Premier Nikolai Bulganin in December.

That letter hinted the Swiss should help maintain world peace by inviting the big powers to a new summit meeting. Such an invitation was issued by Switzerland in November, 1955, at the height of the Suez and Hungarian crises, but was rejected by the Western powers.

The Rats Go By

I HAD a dream, and, in my dream, I was wandering through a strange, ugly world. It was a little like our world, but everything in it was distorted so that my dreaming eyes could see nothing but rats, running round and round in a terrible race that seemed to have no ending.

I saw that there were old rats and young rats, plump ones and thin ones, and some which looked tired and tottery as if they had lost all zest for the race but kept running out of habit.

Then, I saw that, under a tree, was an old peaceful rat, resting comfortably in the shade.

"How do you do," I said, shyly, in my dream.

"Coming to sit?" he asked, patting the cool green grass beside him. "The dust of the race doesn't reach us here."

"Why do they do it?" I asked, as we sat in the shade and watched the stream of rats go by.

"Can't help themselves," my rat companion said. "Most of them get caught up in the race when they're young. Once they're really in it, they've a hard time getting out. The prizes are very great, you see. Though sometimes the prizes crumble into dust, as the winners touch them."

"Do you know the rules of the race?" I asked.

"I sure do," he said. "I used to teach the rules to the young ones. I used to catch them before the teaching of home and school and church could sink too deep. Then, suddenly, I couldn't do it any more."

Here my companion paused and nibbled on a blade of grass. Then he told me how he used to teach the young rats that sales were all that mattered. Never mind how they got the sales. So long as they got them. Because if they didn't make the sales, some other guy would. And the little left-behind would find themselves picking their food out of garbage cans.

"I seem to have heard that somewhere else," I said.

"I bet you have," said my companion. "But there was one young rat who said he couldn't high-pressure simple types into buying things they didn't want or need, and couldn't afford. We pushed him out of the race pretty fast, I can tell you."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

"I dunno. Went to work for the government, I guess. Probably scratching away at a forgotten file in an official labyrinth. Getting precious little pay and no coffee breaks!"

I laughed because he seemed to expect it.

"Or feeding vital statistics into a machine that punches 'em where it hurts?" I suggested.

"Punching?" said the old rat. "That reminds me of a young fellow I was teaching. Bright-eyed chap, big and powerful, and eager as could be. I thought he'd really go places."

"Didn't he?" I asked.

"He was doing fine till I told him that if the woman of the house asked him to come back in the evening when her husband was there, he must clinch the sale right then because the husbands always turned thumbs down on that particular deal."

"Yes," I prompted.

"That's when he turned ugly. Said he figured he'd be a husband one day, and would I like to see what he'd do to an old rat who taught young ones how to trick his wife."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

But the dream was fading fast, and all I could hear was the squeaking of the rats in the distance, and the curious sound made by millions of racing, scurrying feet.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Gracie Rocks Her Role

LONDON—The entertainment world... Very sad about Gracie Fields, now 60 years of age. For well over 30 years she has been dear to the hearts of the English. Until now.

Cause of the change of attitude was her flop at the Royal command variety show. The public has always expected of Gracie the old songs—humorous and sentimental—with which she made her name.

She was in the tradition of England's old-time music hall artists—get a good act together and, apart from a few modifications from year to year, keep serving this up and the faithful British public will go on lapping it up indefinitely.

Such old-timers as George Robey, Marie Lloyd, Harry Tate, Nellie Wallace, Florrie Ford, Will Hay, Vesta Tilley never felt it necessary to stop singing the old songs and cracking the old jokes. Back in those days, without the demands of talkies, radio and TV for new material, a standard line of patter and a fixed repertoire of songs could last any artist a lifetime.

But Gracie got it into her head that we are in a changing world, one must move with the times. So when she shook the stage for the variety show her big number, or what she thought would be her big number, was Born To Be Your Baby, a rock 'n' roll item. And the performance of the 60-year-old Queen of Show Business was pitiful. The audience greeted it in embarrassed silence.

Afterwards a tearful Gracie said: "Am I finished? Does anybody want me any more?" The public's verdict: at 60, with lots of money, lovely home in Capri and wonderful career behind you—that's a good time to retire.

Further proof that Canadian TV plays are regarded here as top-notch. The London Star, slating British TV drama, asks: "When are we going to produce plays at the calibre of Arthur Hailey's Course for Collision and Flight Into Danger?" Hailey's The Seeds of Power is eagerly awaited.

Offerings Double
For St. David's

Congregation of St. David's-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, gave $5,049 to the church in 1955, more than double the total of offerings in the previous year. It was reported at an annual meeting Sunday.

The increase in giving spelled success for the church's 21-month "Campaign of Advance" which started last April. On the basis of an $8,050 proposed budget, the vicarage debt should stand at $3,100 at the end of this year, and the organ should be paid for in full, the meeting was told.

Negroes Make Grade

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Eight Negro students attending Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., are making grades of A and B. Mrs. Daisy Bates, Arkansas president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday. A ninth Negro student has a C average.

U.S. Economy Can Provide
Security Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the U.S. can lick the recession this year, pay in full the cost of meeting Russia's new challenge, and go forward to "real economic growth without inflation."

His economic report, third and last of the annual White House messages to Congress, carried a 42-point program of home-front legislation. Most of the requests were familiar, but Eisenhower said they now are "urgent."

He gave no hint that the administration is considering tax cuts, public works or deliberate deficits and avoided even the words "recession" or "depression."

SLUMP CAME EARLY

Eisenhower disclosed that the slump began sooner and hit harder than officials had expected. In the last three months national production dropped $6,000,000,000, or 1½ per cent, he said, from the record rate of $439,000,000,000 a year achieved in the previous quarter.

"The latest challenge of international communism will require a further increase in the economic claims of national security, which are already heavy," Eisenhower said.

"If we follow suitable private and public policies, this challenge can be met without distorting our economy, or destroying the freedoms that we cherish."

"Whatever our national security requires, our economy can provide and we can afford to pay."

Reporting record U.S. exports in 1955, Eisenhower said a further rise depends on opening American markets more to foreign goods.

The president disclosed that exports soared last year to $26,300,000,000 — $2,800,000,000 higher than the previous record set in 1956.

Foreign shipments to the United States also set a record — $20,600,000,000 — during the year. But the president's report stressed American shipments abroad were nearly $6,000,000,000 higher.

To maintain what he termed a soundly-based foreign economic policy, Eisenhower again asked Congress to (1) extend the Reciprocal Trade Agree-

Old Arsenal Found

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An arsenal of 130 pistols and hundreds of rounds of ammunition was found cached Sunday in the staircase of a North Philadelphia home. Some of the guns were loaded. Detectives said they may have been placed there by gangsters during prohibition days. Six deep sea fishing rods found with the weapons were wrapped in a Philadelphia newspaper dated May 24, 1932.

Musicians Killed

18 Die Violently During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

There were at least 18 accidental deaths throughout Canada during the weekend. Only two traffic deaths occurred in western Canada and only 10 in snow and rain-swept eastern Canada where road travel was treacherous.

U.K. SEEKS URANIUM FUEL

NEW YORK (AP) — The Times says Britain has turned to the United States for uranium fuel to use in future atomic power plants.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper says Atomic Energy Commission officials disclosed that Britain has requested that the United States supply a substantial amount of slightly enriched uranium.

The story also says in part: While no final decision has been reached, it is expected that the British request will be fulfilled as part of a broader agreement for closer atomic co-operation between the two nations.

Israeli Envoy Claims Writer Distorts Facts

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP) — Israel's Ambassador to Canada Sunday night accused a University of Toronto professor of writing "vicious, biased and superficial" ideas about the Middle East.

Arthur Lourie criticized Rev. F. V. Winnett, chief of the Department of Oriental Languages for an article in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine called "For the Sake of Argument."

Lourie told the Canadian Jewish Congress that he had never seen an article from non-Arab pen, more distortive of facts.

He termed as "superficial and perilous to the peace," Winnett's conclusion that the West is losing the Arab World because of Israel and there can be no peace or stability in the Middle East until the West withdraws its support of Israel. The ambassador said some Arab countries favored the West and some were antagonistic to it and that their reasons dealt with geography, history and economics and had nothing to do with Israel.

Flying Club Sends Three To Parley

A three-man delegation will represent Victoria at the annual meeting in Ottawa Jan. 27 and 28 of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

The Victoria club will receive a certificate for having flown 4,874 accident-free hours in 1957.

Dr. Arthur B. Nash, president of the association, will lead the Victoria group. With him will be Claude Butler, president of the Victoria Flying Club, and Dave Filby, instructor-manager.

Funds raised in the Feb. 1 to 28 drive will be used to support a heart research program at UBC and various B.C. hospitals which have cardiac investigative units. (Times photo.)

OFFICER WINS GUN DUEL WITH FORMER CONVICT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A policeman and an ex-convict faced each other with drawn pistols Sunday. Each shouted he had the other covered. The policeman won—he fired once, killing Jasper Richard Cotton, 32. Cotton was sighted driving a stolen car. Two patrol car policemen gave chase. Cotton lost control and crashed. Cotton crawled from the wrecked car, gripping a pistol. Patrolman L. E. Petrie said he leaped from the pursuing car and advanced within six feet of Cotton. "I've got you covered," shouted Petrie and ordered Cotton to drop his weapon. "Nothing doing. I've got you covered," retorted Cotton. Petrie fired one shot from his .45-calibre automatic pistol and Cotton fell dead.

Sputnik II Sighted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Moonwatch scientists Sunday night reported sighting Sputnik II, Russia's dog-satellite, as it sped around the earth. A spokesman for the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said the man-made moon appeared faintly, moving from the north northwest to south southeast.

Packed Arena Applauds Revue by Skating Club

A sell-out crowd jammed Memorial Arena Saturday night for the annual ice show presented by the Victoria Figure Skating Club. This year's show a "Centennial Ice Revue" was centred on the history of B.C. in a series of tableaux put on by the 600 members of the club. Standouts in the second portion of the program were the vaudeville acts of Maralee Rutley and the duets or pair numbers of Susan Cookes and John Ryder and Lorraine Hyne and Len Simpson. The spontaneous and sometimes unrehearsed antics of the "animals", particularly the "bears" and "skunks" drew appreciative laughter from the audience. The latter half of the show featured successive dance and specialty numbers by some of the older members. Costumes for the production were designed by Mrs. Rhoda Harding and made by parents of the performers.

Talk of Break Was Only That

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's two major professional football leagues, who only two days earlier had announced they would run their own show without the help of the Canadian Rugby Union, wound up their three-day meetings here Sunday still greatly under the influence of the old-time body.

The Big Four and Western Interprovincial Union—now known respectively as the eastern and western divisions of the newly-formed Canadian Football League—couldn't get together on the old problem of playing rule changes. Now they've got to get it settled at the CRU's annual meeting in Toronto in mid-March.

The two groups did, however, come out of their closed sessions in complete accord on most other questions, including import quotas, a national waiver list, territorial rights and player limits.

When the two pro leagues announced with unexpected suddenness at their opening session last Friday the formation of the CFL and appointment of G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg as national commissioner with broad authority, they said they wanted jurisdiction over "all affairs pertaining to professional football."

The CFL stuck to its guns on its policy of administering the Grey Cup final, this year in Vancouver on Saturday, Nov. 29, but the Eastern and Western divisions were far apart on proposed rule changes.

The East wants blocking by backs done away with completely while the West plumped for 10 yards blocking for all players of the attacking team on scrimmage plays. At present, only linemen and two backfielders who flank outside the ends can block 10 yards.

A West proposal for unlimited blocking on pass interceptions over the line of scrimmage met with opposition from the East, which wants to retain the present rule of no blocking on such plays.

Unless the two divisions can get together before the CRU's annual session—and some delegates think they might—the so-called "splinter groups" of the CBU-Ontario Rugby Football Union, Quebec Rugby Football Union and the Intercollegiate Union will have the big say on 1958 rule changes.

New Method of Ticket Distribution

On taking over the Grey Cup, the CFL is expected to change the distribution of tickets which, up to this year, has been 30 per cent each for the CRU, Big Four and WIFU and 10 per cent for the ORFU.

The pros decided that until such time as the CFL draws up its own constitution and by-laws—expected this year—the Big Four and WIFU, as such, will maintain membership in the CRU. By 1959, it is expected the two unions will fade from the picture and the CFL will request membership in the CRU for its two divisions.

The much-discussed interlocking schedule question was again shoved aside, with a special committee set up to look into the possibility of a full east-west schedule for 1959.

On imports, the CFL agreed on each club cutting down to 12 Americans 48 hours after its third league game, and that seven changes may be made up to Oct. 15. Last year, only 12 could be dressed but the teams were allowed to carry as many as they wanted and make 14 changes from their third games until Oct. 18. At that time, they had to name 12 for the remainder of the season.

The new league also agreed that 28 players would suit for all games. Last year, the home club could dress 30 and the visitors 28.

The national waiver list for all nine clubs will replace the separate waiver lists operated by the WIFU and Big Four.

Halter, whose official title is commissioner—chairman of the CFL, named two special officiating representatives—Cec McFadden of Toronto for the east and Andy Currie of Winnipeg for the west.

Under territorial rights agreed on by the league, both divisions now are protected on any junior football player going to a United States college. On his return to Canada, the player remains the property of the pro team in whose area he had played as a junior. Previously, there was no such protection.

Slow-Burning Fire Best for Bakers

Brodies Bakery took more than 45 minutes to start pulling its Sunday production out of the Victoria and District Football League oven, but when the Bakers had finished their chores, they were pardonably proud of the final result.

Canagian Hungarians, who had chewed off a 1-0 lead in the first half of the match at Topaz Avenue Park, found the Bakers' cooking highly indigestible.

Brodies whipped up a six-goal batch to erase the Hungarians' lead, wrap a convincing 6-1 triumph and climb back out in front in the race for the league's second-half title.

In other league matches Sunday, Gorge Hotel took over third place in the nine-team loop by whipping Esquimalt, 3-1, at Heywood Avenue and Punjab United barely held on to salvage a 3-3 draw with Victoria Kickers at Central Park.

LADYSMITH WINS

At Beacon Hill, goals by Stewart Batti and Bob Jansch gave Ladysmith a 2-0 victory in an exhibition tussle with Heaneys of the Victoria League.

Canadian Scottish moved into a temporary tie for the top spot when they edged Tillcum, first-half champions, at Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

Don Jones scored the only goal of the opening half and made it 2-0 for the Scots early in the second canto. Tillcum, playing most of the game with only 10 men, were in command down the home stretch but could only break through the desperate Scottish defence for one goal—by Charlie Constable with 10 minutes remaining.

Hungarians played their best soccer during the opening half at Topaz Avenue Sunday, and when Charlie Karmma gave them a 1-0 lead it appeared they might be headed for their first win of the league's second-half schedule.

BOND SCORES THREE

However, once the Bakers got rolling, there was little doubt of the final result. Leroy Bond set the scoring pace for Brodies with three goals. John Pickburn scored twice on penalty shots and Henry Vanderhorst collected the sixth tally.

Dune McCague played a starring role for Gorge Hotel, making the plays for all of his club's three goals. Don McGee and Bill Abbott converted McCague passes in the opening half and Jack McIntyre made it 3-0 on another play engineered by the left winger before Tommy Druce notched the lone Esquimalt marker.

EXCITING FINISH

Kickers' second-half rally produced an exciting finish in the match at Central Park.

Punjab, getting two goals from George Brown and a single tally from Chris Braun, held a 3-0 lead at the break but was lucky to squeeze through with a draw.

Willie Vohr started Kickers on the comeback trail and Otto Petrovsky and Helmut Schmitz evened the count before time ran out.

BOWLING MONARCHS

Wearing big smiles after coming out on top in their divisions in 17th annual All-Star Bowling Tournament at Minneapolis Sunday night were Merle Mathews, Long Beach, Calif., and Don Carter, St. Louis. Miss Mathews upset defending champion Marion Ladewig in women's division while Carter retained men's title by edging Buzz Fazio 311-03 points to 308-09.—(AP wirephoto)

Blame Boomer's Spree on Voters

By The Canadian Press

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who didn't make either the first or second all-star teams at mid-season, today ranks as the National Hockey League's leading goal-scorer and as one of four active players to score 200 goals.

Geoffrion, the league's hottest scorer with 10 in his last seven games, scored twice Sunday to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 6-2 victory over Boston Bruins. The goals were his 25th and 26th this year and the 200th and 201st of his NHL career, now in its eighth season.

The victory gave Montreal a split in their week-end series with Boston, who had shut out the Canadiens 3-0, Saturday, in Montreal.

In other games Saturday, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Detroit Red Wings 2-1 and New York Rangers beat Chicago Black Hawks 3-2.

Sunday, Chicago defeated Toronto 5-3 and New York whipped Detroit 6-1. Geoffrion, who had two assists Sunday, ended the all-star hand-injured teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Detroit's Gordie Howe for the right-wing spot.

Sunday he joined those two and Chicago's Ted Lindsay as the only active NHL players with 200 or more goals. Only 29 players in the league's history have hit the mark.

COULD EQUAL HIS HIGH The goal also put the five-foot, nine-inch Montreal native well on his way to matching his career high of 38, set in 1954-55 when he topped the individual scoring with 75 points.

Bert Olmstead, Jean Beliveau, Dickie Moore and Floyd Curry also scored for Montreal. Johnny Bucyk and Jerry Toppazzini scored for Boston.

Goalie Lorne Worsley sparked for Rangers as they won both their weekend games. It marked three straight wins for New York since Worsley was recalled from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League.

Andy Bathgate, Dave Creighton and Andy Heberton were the New York scorers Saturday. Rangers counted five times in the third period Sunday to overwhelm Detroit. Bathgate, Heberton, Guy Gendron, Parker MacDonald, Gerry Foley and Lou Fontinato were the scorers while Worsley made 32 stops. Jack McIntyre scored for Detroit.

Talent Transfusion Late But Patient Perks Up

Cougars Whip Americans; Olson Scores First Goal

Victoria Cougars received their talent transfusion a day later than prescribed, but the Cats appear a healthier club today.

Denny Olson and Tom McCarthy, obtained by the Cougars in the trade that sent former manager Colin Kilburn to Edmonton Hockey League tussle at New Westminster.

In that one, Cats ran out of energy in the third period and the Royals scampers to a 6-3 win, scoring their final two goals into an open net.

At Seattle Sunday, coach Pat Egan was able to inject the former Flyer forwards into the Cougar veins and the Victorians took a new lease on life, busting at top speed all the way as they handed the Americans a 4-1 lacing.

Shortly before the game, the Cougars sold Frank Milne to the Americans and he took over a wing berth for the Seattle club.

The victory ended the Cougar losing skid at eight games and left them 22 points behind the Americans in the league's Coast Division race.

Olson lost little time in making his presence felt. The all-star centre, who was shifted to a wing position, scored his first goal for Victoria at 6:49 and made the play for Gordie Haworth's goal that gave the Cats a 2-0 lead in the first period.

McCarthy contributed an assist on Gordie Wilson's second-period tally and Eddie Dorohoy ended the Cougar scoring with a breakaway goal in the final session.

Seattle's goal, naturally, was scored by Don Chiupka, who has now scored 14 goals this season, 12 of them against his team-mates of last season.

Egan shuffled his forward lines with the acquisition of Olson and McCarthy, using Olson at a wing berth with centre Ed Dorohoy and Haworth. McCarthy worked with winger Doug Macauley on a line pivoted by Wilson while Stan Balliuk centred Bud Syverson and Blinky Boyce.

It Was Big Night for Hannigan

Although they battled from behind three times at New Westminster, the Cougars couldn't hold out against the runner-up Royals in the final 10 minutes Saturday.

Royals grabbed the lead for the fourth time when Pat Hannigan scored his third goal of the game at 10:06 and the Royals added a couple of goals after Egan had pulled goalie Emile Francis for a sixth at-tacker in the final 15 seconds.

Arnie Schmutz collected two goals for New Westminster and Arnie counted once. Jones and Duke Edmundson each picked up three assists.

Dorohoy, Macauley and Haworth fired the Victoria goals in the fast, exciting game which was marred by only seven minor penalties, four to the Cougars.

Hannigan's first goal gave Royals a 1-0 first-period lead.

TIJUANA OPEN

Hungry Rookie Tied For Lead With Stan

TIJUANA, Mexico (UP)—The wide-open Tijuana Open golf tournament went into the final round today with only three strokes separating 13 men—but with young J. C. Goosie of Knoxville, Tenn., and old-timer Stan Leonard of Vancouver in front.

Goosie, who pronounces his last name just as it sounds and who has initials that stand for nothing, is rated as the man to beat by the other professionals. He never has won a major tournament—and he has been on the tour only five months. And he's hungry.

He joined the tour in September and since that time has made only $2,137. It costs about $200 a week to live on this circuit.

Goosie fired a fine five-under-par 67 Sunday, with nines of 36-31, closing out the round with a seven-iron approach shot to within three feet of the pin for a birdie on the last hole.

Meanwhile Leonard was playing what he termed a "fair" round. He had a two-under-par 70 and that gave him and Goosie 54-hole totals of 208. Goosie has rounds of 72-69-67, Leonard 68-70-70.

Leonard, 42, has been around for a long time and includes in his record six Canadian PGA championships. His last U.S. crown of any consequence was the Greensboro Open last spring.

Fred Hawkins and Bob Rosburg are right on the heels of the "leaders" with 209 totals. Hawkins had a 68 Sunday while Rosburg took an even-par 72, despite a back injury on the first nine that nearly forced him to pick up.

At 210 came Gene Littler, Bill Johnston, Jerry Barber and Dave Regan. And the others in contention, at 211, are Billy Casper, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Arnold Palmer, Lionel Hebert, and Bo Wininger, leader at the halfway mark who skied to a husky 77 Sunday.

Toronto's Al Balding stayed on the edge of the pack with a 214 total.

Queen Eds Didn't Act Like Substitute Team

Dairy Queen Eds were merely a stand-in basketball team when they took to the floor Saturday at Victoria High School against Victoria College Vikings.

But, while they might have been a trifle disappointed at the manner in which the invitation came, Eds made the best of the situation as it stood.

By the time they had gone, even the Vikings considered them a poor second choice. Eds, current leaders of the Victoria senior "B" men's league, had become the only team this season to defeat the mighty Vikings.

They did it the hard way, trading basket for basket in the final seconds to win by the slightest of possible margins, 46-45.

KILBURN GETS WINNER

There's No Joy In Cowboy Town

Tony Regains Island Throne

NANAIMO (Special) — Tony Gutoski, Victoria, is back on the Vancouver Island curling throne today.

Vancouver Island zone champion for two years before being dethroned by Duncan's Tony Folk last year, Gutoski gained the right to represent Vancouver Island in the provincial playdowns at Penticton when he edged Brock Wilson, Nanaimo, 5-4, in a playoff here Sunday night.

Both clubs finished with 6-1 won-lost records at the end of the Island British Consols playdowns and Gutoski won a battle of tactics in the thriller-packed playoff when he drew in to an open house with the last rock on the 12th end.

Four ends were blanked as the two skips manoeuvred for the last rock coming home. And Gutoski made the key play on the 11th end when he forced Wilson to count one and leave the Victoria skip with the last rock on the final end.

Wilson counted one in the first, third and sixth ends while Gutoski chalked up two in the second and one in the fourth. The seventh, eighth and ninth ends were blanked and Gutoski

Oarsmen Hold Wanderers To 6-6 Draw

Ties were the order of the day Saturday in Victoria Rugby Union action as JBAA battled to a 6-6 draw with Oak Bay Wanderers in the First Division while Second Division JBAA played HMCS Venture to a 12-12 draw at Colville Road.

After two defeats at the hands of Wanderers in their initial outings, JBAA first showed steady improvement Saturday with Doug Brown trading penalty goals with Bob Shipley in the first half.

Shipley moved Oak Bay out in front with a second penalty after the breather, but JBAA came rolling back when Gord Hemingway finished a smooth three-line run started by break-forward Reg Lott.

In the Second Division exhibition, Venture scores came on unconverted tries by Derrick Hood, Niles Horn, Jim Bell and Thor Young. JBAA answered with tries by Sonny Vickery, Charlie Bishop and Bob Coutts and a penalty goal by Riek McVie.

Tampa Tee Title Stays With Betsy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Defending champion Betsy Rawls won her fourth Tampa Women's Open golf championship in five years Sunday by one stroke over Mickey Wright and Patty Berg.

Miss Rawls, of Spartanburg, S.C., shot a one-over-par 74 and finished the $7,500 event with a 72-hole total of 302.

Miss Berg and Miss Wright came in with 303s.

Marlene Stewart Streitt of Toronto finished the tournament with a disastrous 87. With earlier rounds of 82, 80 and 82, this gave her a total of 331.

Ladies' Champs Come Through

The mythical tiara that goes with championships once again jauntily rests with the Marg Fuller-skipped rink from Nanaimo.

The Fuller quartet successfully defended its Vancouver Island zone ladies' curling title, but not before the tiara was precariously jostled in the three-day Island final.

Defending B.C. and western Canada champions, the Nanaimo foursome was upset twice in the opening day's play as the zone playdowns got under way at Victoria Curling Club on Friday.

Opponent Easy And Pay Good

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—World light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore Saturday night won a 10-round non-title decision over Brazilian titleholder Luis Inacio in the biggest fight ever held in Brazil.

Moore weighed 190½, Inacio 179.

Moore simply had too much experience for the Brazilian, who had been promised a shot at the title if he won.

The sellout crowd was estimated at 18,000. Moore's purse was $22,000.

Moore took the offensive in the first round and continued hitting the Brazilian almost at will.

day. They came back, however, to mark up four straight victories to retain the Island title.

Mrs. Fuller clinched victory Sunday with a 16-3 victory over Duncan's Mrs. H. Berkey. The win gave the Nanaimo rink a 5-2 won-lost record in the eight-rink round-robin series.

Victoria rinks skipped by Mrs. Ruby Cooper and Mrs. Mary Beattie wound up in a three-way tie for the runner-up honors along with Alberni's Mrs. D. Ferguson. Each rink won four and lost three.

Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Beattie all posted victories on the seventh and final draw Sunday.

Mrs. Fuller now takes her rink to the provincial playoffs in Kimberley in February.

SCHOOL CURLING

Alberni Boys in Finals

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Terry Miller's "veteran" foursome from Alberni District High School swept all three of its games here yesterday to win the region I playdowns of the annual provincial high school curling championships.

Miller's rink, which won the Vancouver Island title from Don Moss of Oak Bay High School last weekend, will represent region I in the B.C. finals at Cranbrook January 25 for the second straight year. Winner there will travel to Charlottetown, P.E.I., for the annual Canadian high school championships.

A crowd of about 100 turned out to watch Saturday's 'spiel, as rinks from Haney, West Vancouver, McGee High School of Vancouver and Alberni schools competed in the round-robin competition.

The Alberni rink, which was eliminated in the final game by Kimberley in last year's provincial final, won 9-8 from West Vancouver, defeated Haney 14-2, and trounced McGee, 13-4.

Haney finished second with a 2-1 record. West Vancouver won one game and lost two, and McGee was beaten in all three games, twice in extra ends.

Members of the Alberni squad, coached by George Falkard, have been curling for about five years. Don Stevens plays third, with Pete Arnett second and Bruce Spottiswood lead.

Other regional winners were also declared Saturday.

Trail, skipped by Lloyd Wood, defeated Fernie 10-6 and 10-2 to win the Kootenay area title, while Revelstoke captured Okanagan main line honors. Revelstoke, skipped by John Rutherford, defeated Oliver Osoyoos High 2-1 in a best-of-three series.

Legion Stages Rally For Exhibition Verdict

One of the best exhibition games ever played by a division V Victoria minor soccer team was turned in at Nanaimo as Britannia Legion rallied from a first-half 1-0 deficit to defeat their Hub-City division V counterparts 2-1 on Saturday.

Legion's sharp-passing attack in the second half resulted in a pair of quick tallies by Wayne Ballam and Don McCormick that won their game.

In another exhibition at Nanaimo, Victoria Legion's division IV team battled to a scoreless draw with Nanaimo.

In regular league action in division I Sunday, Optimists and Mariners played to a 1-1 tie with Glen Robbins scoring for Optimists and Barney Fredrickson replying for Mariners.

Eagles dropped their division I contest to Texacos by a 3-1 count as Larry Fletcher scored twice and Fred Potts once for the winners. Dave Collett scored Eagles' lone goal.

Complete Saturday results follow:

Sheila Strikes Oil In Query to Andy

Hardly able to keep still for the camera was nine-year-old Sheila Shipley, 1076 Davie Street, the latest Victoria winner of the prize for the best "Ask Andy" question.

A grade 4 student at Margaret Jenkins School, Sheila asked "How is oil made in the ground?" because, she said, "we were studying it at school and I just wondered how it got there."

As a reward for her curiosity she has won a 15-volume set of the Canadian edition of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia which may mean, of course, that "Andy" may not hear from her again now that she just needs to look it up.

A swimmer, skater, Brownie and best runner in her class Sheila and her family moved here from Red Deer four years ago.

Sitting in the middle of a heap of paper unwrapping the volumes, she smiled and said:

"I'm going to let the others use them but they'll have to ask me first."

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sheila Shipley, aged 12, of Victoria, B.C., for her question:

How Is Oil Made in the Ground?

The old earth took a long, long time to make her supplies of oil. The recipe took place underground. The precious supplies of oil needed for industry have been hidden under the ground for millions and millions of years. We know the ingredients of the recipe, but we still do not know all the secrets of how it is put together. Crude oil, as it occurs in the ground, is mostly hydrogen and carbon. But we cannot put these basic elements together to make oil.

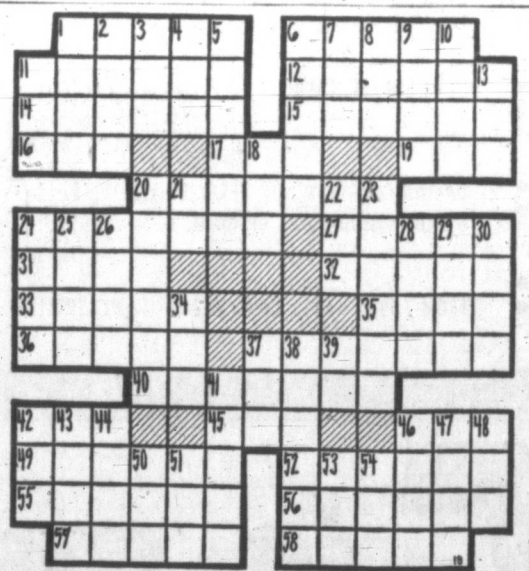

The geologists and the chemists provide us with clues as to how nature makes oil. Oil is a hydrocarbon, which the chemists say was created by living creatures. It is the fossil remains of creatures that lived long ages ago. The geologists say that oil is found where there was once an ancient sea. From these clues we can guess that oil was made from ancient sea creatures.

This does not surprise us, for

Bottom Built in Layers

These events are earth changes. The ancient seas where the small creatures basked in the sunshine went through many such changes. Their floors of sand, mud, and small bodies were covered with a layer of new mud, maybe brought in by silt-carrying rivers. The oily sand and mud became a layer below the surface.

Meantime the old earth shrugged her shoulders. The sandwich of rocky layers was heaved up and down in hills and dales. Maybe the sea retreated, leaving a surface of dry land. New layers of soil and rocks were added. The oozy old sea bed, now buried far below, became hard sandstone or limestone. The muddy layer directly above it became a roof of hard shale. While this was going on, the fossil sea creatures were turned into oil. We are not certain how this is done. It may be done by bacteria or some

SHORT FILTER CIGARETTE
ROTHMANS KING SIZE

Compare the length

Short filter cigarettes take away tobacco from a plain cigarette to make room for a filter. Rothmans King Size adds the filter, making your cigarette 11% longer. Result: A man size smoke, more flavour, more satisfaction—filtered the Rothmans way.

FINER FILTER

BEST TOBACCO MONEY CAN BUY

Compare the filter

Rothmans finer filter draws easy and smooth... lets all the natural flavour through. Rothmans have been making filter cigarettes for over 50 years. Rothmans know how to make filter cigarettes... that's why they're the largest selling King Size Filter in the Commonwealth.

Compare the EXTRA PLEASURE

You are always ahead with Rothmans King Size filter. The extra length of the best straight cut Virginia tobaccos plus Rothmans finer filter, gives you an extra measure of pleasure no other cigarette offers you. That's why Rothmans King Size is becoming Canada's favourite filter cigarette.

Rothmans Opens Canada's Newest Cigarette Plant

Canada's newest cigarette plant, opened by Rothmans of Pall Mall, is now in full production. The ultra-modern machinery is maintaining a full schedule to supply the demand for Canada's First King Size Filter cigarette.

The new Rothmans production centre is one of many fine Rothmans plants operating in seven different countries to supply the largest selling King Size Filter cigarette in the Commonwealth. Headquarters for the Rothmans group is in London, England.

Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited are using the best straight cut Virginia tobaccos from southwestern Ontario farms. Rothmans experts claim it is comparable to the best in the world and have used Canadian leaf in their plants in other countries for many years.

A Rothmans taste expert has experimented and tested for months to formulate a cigarette which appeals to Canadian tastes. He will be on the job constantly to see that the special Canadian formula is maintained at top quality.

The specially chosen tobaccos go through a complicated process of Virginia leaf preparation before they go to the cigarette making machine. This machine hurls out twenty cigarettes a second, and another electronic machine controls the weight of each cigarette to ensure Rothmans famous, easy drawing quality. Only the best is used to produce Rothmans King Size Filter cigarettes for the Canadian smoker.

Gold Trophy Offered to Best Leaf Grower

Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited have presented a solid gold trophy to the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Growers' Marketing Board.

The new trophy, to be known as Rothmans Gold Leaf, was designed and made by Henry Birks and Sons of Toronto. It is a strikingly beautiful example of trophy craftsmanship and will be competed for annually for the Canadian flue-cured tobacco championship.

Rothmans, who have been buying Canadian leaf tobacco for years for their cigarette plants throughout the world, have just recently established their first Canadian plant in Toronto.

In presenting the Rothmans Gold Leaf to Charles N. Heath, Secretary and Resident Manager of the Marketing Board, Alan Pollock, President of Rothmans, stated that Rothmans recognize that growers and manufacturers have a common interest in producing tobacco of highest quality for sale at a price which gave both parties a fair deal.

Mr. Pollock added that Rothmans hoped the Gold Leaf would serve as a continuing reminder of the past achievements of Canadian tobacco growers and that they, in competing for the trophy, would continue to maintain and enhance the reputation of Canadian tobacco in both Canadian and World markets.

WHAT IS KING SIZE?

King Size is a Trade Name first used in the world, in 1937, by the Rothmans group to denote extra quality plus extra length. Rothmans offered this attractive, extra value cigarette at the same price as short cigarettes, because the extra tobacco put into them did not require more tax than was paid on short cigarettes.

The inventor's definition of a King Size cigarette is: "The maximum amount of tobacco in a cigarette that can be sold without extra tax imposed by government on overweight."

In Canada, The Canadian Excise Act which determines the tax to be paid on cigarettes reads as follows: "Cigarettes weighing not more than two and one half pounds per thousand, four dollars per thousand, Rep. and new, 1952-53, c.34, c.3."

If cigarettes weigh more than 2½ lbs. per 1,000 in Canada, the tax is increased to $5.00 per 1,000 or 2 cents per pack more.

Therefore in accordance with the inventor's definition, Canadian made Rothmans King Size Filter cigarettes weigh precisely 2½ lbs. per 1,000. This provides the public with a cigarette which is 80 millimeters long, that is 11% longer than short filter cigarettes.

In the U.S.A., the tax does not increase until cigarettes weigh over 3 lbs. per 1,000. In that country, in accordance with the inventor's definition, King Size cigarettes are 85 millimeters in length.

The stylish length and the extra value of the Rothmans King Size cigarette invention rapidly became fashionable and appreciated all over the world. It has been like the mighty oak growing from the tiny acorn. And thus it has come to pass that the Rothmans trade name "King Size" has become a favorite adjective in many countries and many languages the world over to describe anything of unusually generous proportion.

Divided Results In Cowichan Hospital Voting

COBBLE HILL — Hospital Improvement District No. 4, to include all of the unorganized portion of Cowichan School District 65, came into existence Saturday as a result of a 463-320 vote in favor of forming the district.

In School District 66, comprising Lake Cowichan and surrounding communities, the proposal to form Hospital Improvement District No. 5 was rejected by a vote of 195-170.

Organizing committee of District 4 will recommend to government officials that five zones be established in the district, and that one trustee be elected for each zone. It will be recommended that trustees must be residents of the zones concerned.

SAME POLLS

Committee suggested nominations be called, and that voting be at the same polls as those used in the plebiscite Saturday—schools at Cobble Hill, Mill Bay, Shawnigan Lake, Cowichan Station and Glenora.

It will be the responsibility of the board of trustees to decide what action to take regarding provision of hospital service for the district. When a plan has been made, it will be presented to the residents for approval.

It might decide to support a hospital in Duncan, which is most likely, or to build a hospital of its own, which is highly unlikely. The board also could recommend doing nothing.

ROCKET CLUB FOR NANAIMO

NANAIMO — Five boys here have formed the Nanaimo Teen-Agers Rocket Club under the direction of Charles Christopherson, who will see that no dangerous experiments are permitted.

"The club is needed to see that things are kept well under control," he said. "The big thing is proper supervision."

for the present, pending positive action of some kind from the Lake Cowichan area.

HAD $65,000

In the Lake Cowichan area, 64 per cent of voters in the village of Lake Cowichan were in favor of the plan, but it was rejected by the outlying portion of the district.

Residents of this area at one time had $65,000 available for construction of a hospital of their own at the village of Lake Cowichan, but BCHIS rejected the plan in favor of a larger and modern hospital at Duncan to serve the whole Duncan-Cowichan area.

DENSE CROWDS STRUGGLED around floodlit Ogden Point dockside Saturday night to welcome the 18,000-ton Leilani, paying her first visit to Victoria en route to Honolulu. Victoria Girls' Drill team and other entertainers kept up the spirits of more than 3,000 spectators who waited almost an hour because of the ship's delayed arrival in port. —(Photos by Halkett)

Leilani Buildup Draws 3,000; Dockside Confusion Under Fire

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Passengers for Hawaii had to fight their way through dense crowds to board the holiday cruiser Leilani at Ogden Point Saturday night—and many of the 1,000 who had passes to view the ship failed to get past the gangplank.

The liner's first visit to Victoria was a triumph of publicity and salesmanship, but there was lack of organization on the dockside so that passengers got mixed up with pass holders and sightseers and confusion resulted.

Tempers Flared

A crowd of more than 3,000 swayed back and forth on the dockside and tempers erupted as persons who had a legitimate right to board the liner were held back.

The Dallas Road waterfront was jammed with cars for more than a mile, although many sightseers came on foot or travelled by taxi to avoid parking problems.

On board the stately green-painted liner a gay holiday mood prevailed as the more than 600 passengers—110 from Victoria, and 150 from Vancouver—prepared for a six-day sunshine cruise that will include midnight swim parties, entertainment by hula-hula girls and a champagne supper given by Commodore Sven M. A. Rogenes, the Leilani's master.

'Wonderful Break'

"This is just what the doctor ordered," smiled Fred Herfst, of Victoria, who is going to Honolulu on business and decided to do it "the pleasantest way possible."

"Such a wonderful break in the middle of winter," said Mrs. Herfst.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, representing the B.C. government, and Mayor Percy Scurrell attended a reception in the commodore's cabin and gifts were exchanged.

Many U.S. passengers came ashore for sight-seeing tours of the city. Many more stood on deck watching the colorful dockside entertainment arranged by Sam Lane and Bernice Cox of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group.

One Hour Late

This started at 8 p.m., although the Leilani, delayed by conditions outside the harbor, arrived nearly one hour late. A combined boys and girls' band, complete with big drum, skidded a merry welcome to the ship, while the Victoria Girls' Drill Team marched around in colorful array.

Later the girls went on board the liner to distribute leis and corsages made with Victoria's early spring flowers.

Century Sam, traditional centennial figure, gave away bags of gold—actually chocolate coins wrapped in gold foil—and three other Victoria characters added to the fun. These were Jerry Gosley as Colonel Blimp, Russ Jeffs as a mustachioed, tall-helmeted policeman, and Ben Tennyson as the monocled, top-hatted "Mr. Victoria."

Real Thing?

Some U.S. passengers thought Mr. Jeffs was a real Victoria policeman and asked him questions about the city. "You must have a tough time handling all these crowds by yourself," consoled a man from San Francisco. "All part of the day's work, you know," answered the phoney policeman, twirling one end of his long mustache.

The visitor looked hard at Mr. Jeffs but seemed satisfied he was the genuine article. Richard H. King, vice-president of Hawaiian Texton Inc., owners of the Leilani, said he was optimistic that the ship would return to Victoria on other holiday cruises.

"This trip has been more successful than we expected and we had a long waiting list in both Victoria and Vancouver," he said.

MAYOR AND MRS. PERCY SCURRELL, seen in foreground, extended the city's official welcome to the Leilani while Sam Lane (in background with Mrs. Lane) organized entertainment program. They are pictured here being entertained by Andy Cummings, one of the ship's company.

Britain's Expulsion of Refugee Hungarians Draws Ire of Press

LONDON (Reuters) — The case of three Hungarian refugee families, ordered to leave Britain for illegal entry, today kicked up a storm of protest in the British press.

Newspapers Sunday published pictures of a pregnant refugee mother being dragged by police, kicking and screaming, from a hostel in East Grinstead, southern England, into a waiting bus.

The woman, 29-year-old Mrs. Julia Farkas, was being taken to join her husband and two other Hungarian families to be put aboard the liner High Land Monarch sailing for Brazil from Tilbury. The liner sailed Saturday without them.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler Sunday gave Mrs. Farkas permission to stay in Britain with her children until the birth of her baby.

The peace treaty actually brought a formal end to hostilities dating from Japan's declaration of war on the Netherlands in December 1941. Indonesia gained its sovereignty from the Netherlands in 1949.

Student Seminar Set for Sept. 8

Student delegates from every Canadian university will be chosen by a special committee to attend a seminar next September of National Federation of Canadian University Students.

Governor-General Vincent Massey will be a patron of the seminar to be held in London, at the University of Western Ontario, Sept. 8-12.

Co-operating with NFCUS will be the Canada Council in presenting through a representative group of professors and visiting lecturers the theme "Role of the University in the Development of Canada."

Special reference will be made to the humanities, pure and applied sciences, fine arts and the social sciences.

Selection committee for delegates will include the president, senior dean, student council president and NFCUS chairman of each university.

Co-directors of the seminar will be Prof. M. Lamontagne, Ottawa University, author of "Economic Federalism," and Gordon Hawkins, executive director for the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

$50 GRANT
Nova Scotia Education Minister Malcolm S. Leonard has announced a $50 grant per delegate to help defray costs of five representatives from that province.

Each provincial government has been asked to contribute for a similar purpose.

In the first week of February, NFCUS will submit to each of the 11 provincial and federal governments a brief outlining the needs of Canada's universities in the way of additional government help.

Delegations will meet the nation's representatives coast to coast at approximately the same time.

Ultimate objective is a scholarship for every young Canadian who satisfies university entrance requirements.

Alice, the Gay White Whale, Frolics with Two Playboy Companions

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Fun-loving Alice, the Pacific Coast's beloved albino whale, blew into Victoria waters Sunday with not one, but two male escorts.

The frolicking trio staged a spectacular three-hour show for about 60 wide-eyed Victorians near Harling Point, below Gonzales Hill.

The hi-jinx started about 2.30 p.m.

The playful killer whales dove, slapped and rolled in the frothy sea only about 30 feet from shore. At times, they ventured 10 to 15 feet from spectators.

Alice, who has been in coastal waters for about 12 years, is as youthful as ever, still measuring 13 feet in length and doesn't weigh a pound over one ton soaking wet.

Across the middle she's a svelte three feet.

Her playboy companions were about 18 feet long and weighed about two tons.

"I never saw such a sight in my life," said John Elliott, 305 King George Terrace. "It was a show I'll never forget."

Spectators soon began to collect along the shore to watch the mammals who didn't seem to want privacy.

Sometimes they stood on their tails with their heads out of the water.

Another stunt was standing on their heads with the tails protruding out of the water.

They rolled and dove.

One of the funniest acts was when one of the whales leaped out of a kelp bed with kelp all over its back.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, who arrived late for the show, said the whales were aware they were being watched.

"They have good eyes," he said. "They were probably frolicking around for the fun of it."

"It was a spectacular show because it was not rehearsed," he said. "It was a most unusual sight."

Dr. Carl said Alice and her escorts are probably moving south.

She was sighted last Thursday by the fisheries boat Atlin Post off Fulford Harbor.

The albino whale is of particular interest to naturalists and biologists. She was first sighted in Canadian waters in 1946. Since then nearly 40 records of the white whale being spotted have been reported to the Provincial Museum.

Her color is due to a freak pairing of genes.

It is believed she circles around the island at least twice a year.

Killer whales grow to about 30 feet long. Little is known about their habits.

They will eat anything they can grab—seals, sea lions, dolphins—even a man if he happens to annoy them.

B.C. Indians had respect for the killer whales. They regarded them as one of the fiercest animals of the sea.

MONTE ROBERTS

Among the occupational hazards associated with my line of work, one of the worst is the finding of small bits of paper with things written on them.

I realize this hazard is not unique with my line of work. The same hazard occurs in other lines, as well, I am sure. But most people, being in normal lines of work, can look at what is written on the small bit of paper and dismiss it as yesterday's shopping list, or the phone number of that smashing blonde at the delicatessen, or a reminder to pick up the laundry.

In my line of work, however, you cannot airily dismiss a small bit of paper with something written on it. For it is to one the thing written on the small bit of paper is an IDEA.

And, in my line of work, you do not dismiss IDEAS. That is why I say, finding small bits of paper with things written on them is an occupational hazard. For, once you find them, you have to interpret them, and develop the IDEA into something more or less palatable to the constituents.

What, for instance, to do with THIS small bit of paper, which bears the cryptic message: "Revolving door—escalator—Larry."

And do not tell me to throw it away. It may contain a magic IDEA.

Let us puzzle it out. The Larry, I am reasonably sure, means Larry McNamee. I remember encountering him during the late, lamented festive season. As for the revolving door—escalator, all I can think of is something about not going through the revolving door too fast, it speeds up the escalator.

And that couldn't be it, could it, Larry?

Just one more example. On another small piece of paper, are three typewritten words: "Canned mice food."

At first glance, this might appear to be a portion of a shopping list.

But I doubt that even I would go shopping for canned mice food.

Fresh mice food, perhaps, but not canned.

You see why I mention small bits of paper as an occupational hazard in my line of work?

Ah, well, I shouldn't complain.

My line of work is an occupational hazard in itself.

Rear-Admiral To Retire In April

Rear-Admiral Kenneth F. Adams, 54, a native of Victoria, commander for the last five years of Canada's 22 naval reserve divisions with headquarters at Hamilton, will retire in April, RCN headquarters announced today.

He will proceed on retirement leave April 2 after 33 years with the navy.

Rear-Admiral Adams established the naval reserve headquarters in April, 1953, and was instrumental in organizing the RCN (R) on its present basis.

He will be succeeded by Commodore Edward W. Finch-Noyles of Hamilton.

The rear-admiral, promoted to that rank in 1953, graduated from the Royal Naval College of Canada in 1922.

During the Second World War he commanded several destroyers and cruisers. In 1947 he became deputy chief of naval personnel and director of naval reserve at headquarters.

In 1949 he took command of the aircraft carrier Magnificent and in 1951 assumed command of HMCS Naden. He held this post until becoming the first commanding officer of reserve divisions.

BIG SHOW PLANNED House Opening In Keeping With Centenary

By PETER MURRAY

In a year of historical pageantry and show in British Columbia, Thursday's opening of the provincial legislature will be in keeping with the Centennial Year spirit.

All the pomp will be there, with a kilted pipe band and 21-gun salute, as well as the age-old parliamentary traditions and customs.

In the House, the drama will be played out on a new, rich-toned red carpet recently laid from wall to wall across the chamber.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will walk up the centre aisle in his full ceremonial regalia to read the Speech from the Throne—but only after the House has elected a new Speaker and dealt with a piece of legislation to show that the people's business comes first.

TO AWAIT SPEAKER

The lieutenant-governor will actually enter the chamber, observe there is no Speaker in the chair, then depart while the election is held.

Hugh Shantz, Social Credit member for North Okanagan, has the nod of Premier Bennett for the job and will be named to succeed former speaker Thomas Irwin, who resigned last year to enter federal politics.

Mr. Shantz will duck out of the House, don his newly-made three-cornered hat and gown, and return to the speaker's chair.

The lieutenant-governor will be invited back into the House to read the Throne Speech.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

The speech is actually written by Premier Bennett, and outlines in broad terms the government's intended program of legislation for the session.

Another part of the opening day ceremony will be the introduction of three new MLAs elected in by-elections last September.

Proceedings inside the chamber will be watched by about 400 invited guests crammed in on wooden chairs on the floor of the House and in the public galleries.

Hundreds of others, unable to get inside the House, will watch the ceremonies outside the main entrance.

Victoria's new official saluting battery, the 5th Independent Medium Battery, RCA, will fire the 21-gun salute on the lawn.

The Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will provide a 100-man honor guard in full Highland dress.

The 25-man band of the 5th Independent Medium Battery will also be in attendance.

Jobless Pay Ruling Due In Pulp Strike Side Issue

A three-man board of referees will decide Thursday whether some 700 construction workers on Vancouver Island can collect unemployment insurance.

The workers were among 1,000 men who refused to cross picket lines set up Dec. 3 at four mills on the Island by striking pulp workers.

The closed hearing in the UIC office here, under chairman C. E. Moore, will hear three "test case" appeals against a departmental ruling holding the men ineligible for the benefits on the grounds that they were participating in a labor dispute.

Decision on the test cases will set the pattern for all applications filed by the men last month.

Other members of the board will include a member from each of the employees' and employers' panels set up under the UIC Act here.

FURTHER APPEAL

Under certain circumstances, a further appeal may be taken before a judge, appointed as an umpire, for a final ruling.

The affected men were employed on expansion projects at mills in Harmac, Elk Falls and Port Alberni.

Construction workers at the Port Alice mill returned to work in December after contractors obtained a court injunction against picketing of their crews.

Boy Injured As Home-Made 'Gas' Explodes

Marcel Portier, 14, of 451 Chester, suffered face cuts Sunday when a bottled mixture of home-made "gas" exploded in his face.

The boy said he had put a mixture of vinegar and baking soda into a whisky bottle, plugged it, and threw it into the yard.

Gas pressures burst the bottle and one piece of flying glass made a deep cut over his left eye. Other smaller pieces lacerated the boy's face.

R. Buckle, 456 Chester, heard cries for help and notified police. When they arrived, first aid was being given by Fairfield Troop Scoutmaster John Pickering.

The boy was given treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was kept until his parents, visiting at Sidney, returned home.

Civil Servants Will Ask Ottawa For Wage Boosts

The 75,000-member Civil Service Federation of Canada has advised the federal government it will seek higher wages.

James Randall, president of the 1,400-strong National Defence Employees' Association here which is affiliated with the federation, said today that a committee is working on a salary brief.

The brief will use statistics to back the federation's arguments that civil service salaries have fallen behind levels paid in industry.

Reference also will be made to the 14,000 civil servants who took higher-paying jobs in industry during the past year.

STILL MISSING after walking out of her Saanich home nine days ago as if to go for a walk, Mrs. Audrey Wilcox, 27, 3036 Tillicum, is object of an area-wide police search. Numerous reports of the woman having been seen in the city and Saanich have been checked to no avail. Mrs. Wilcox, who was under doctor's care, is blonde, is 5 feet 2 inches tall, has blue eyes and weighs under 100 pounds. Persons with information should contact Saanich police.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Would you please let me know how the figures of "gross national production" are arrived at, and is it an internationally accepted formula?—V.I.

A.—Gross national production in Canada is arrived at by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics which compiles figures from all available sources. It is the overall value of production, in short, Canada's total produced wealth in terms of dollars. In 1956 it was $26,866,000,000.

There is no internationally accepted formula for arriving at "GNP," other than by totaling up figures.

Anybody asking a question answered in this column is invited to send the question along to "Ask The Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Try Some New Cosmetics!

By PENNY SAVER

Put your hand on your face for a minute! Does your skin feel rough and dry? Beware! Chilly weather of any type can mar your pretty complexion and make you look years older. Ever thought that one and only one cosmetic product might suit your individual skin condition? Well, strangely enough, this is often so. You may spend many dollars on various creams, lotions and powders, then eventually find there is only one kind that agrees with your complexion.

I've found some products that might suit you, you and you... so read on my friends!

What's your excuse for not thoroughly washing your face with both hot and cold water three times a day? Haven't you got the time? That's a good one, because who does have the time to spare when there's pressure of work at the office, or a house to clean and clothes to wash at home? Not many.

But you can acquire the same wonderful effects of those three times a day scrubbing with two marvellous cleansing creams I've found. First, there is the cream for dry skin, then we have the skin cream with properties to solve both normal and oily skin problems. Both creams come at $2 a jar, which is reasonable for their value!

You've got three minutes to get dressed, make up your face and catch the bus! Think you'll make it? You just might, if you use this new instant cleanser that removes old make-up and dirt so quickly, you won't know what is happening. A large jar is $1.25.

Just as your body needs certain vitamins to keep it going, so does your skin! What you eat does not fully care for your skin as far as vitamins are concerned. That is why manufacturers recommend that you try a Vitamin A-D complexion cream. It's good, at $1 a jar.

For a flawless complexion, I suggest you try a foundation

WHEN TO ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT:

I am wearing a fraternity man's pin and am getting married in June. Is it proper to announce the engagement now, or is an engagement ring necessary first?

Louise Davis answers:

An engagement can be announced at any time, ring or no ring. If you have reason to believe that you will be getting one before long, I suggest that you wait until then, for it would add to the pleasure when telling your friends. Getting a ring isn't the criterion of an engagement; it's your promise to the young man that you will marry him. If your fiancé cannot afford to give you one for a while, you are still very much engaged. It should go without saying and without apologies or explanations that a college student is in no position to purchase an engagement ring unless he is one of those "one-in-a-billion" who has a private income of his own. Therefore, anyone would understand if you aren't wearing one. As soon as you, your fiancé and your parents wish the engagement publicly known, then is the time to announce it, for there is no point in telling the world after everyone knows it.

Demonstration—Mrs. E. K. Reid gave a demonstration on the correct application of cosmetics at a recent meeting of the Jaycee-Eltes. Mrs. S. Hagar was her model. Plans were made to hold a rummage sale at the city market in early March, to be co-convened by Mrs. L. Blake and Mrs. G. Colwill. The national convention of Jaycee-Eltes, to be held later this year in Victoria, was reported by Mrs. J. Turner. Mrs. A. Danes presided at the meeting.

Adopted—It was announced at a recent meeting of Brentwood Women's Institute that an eight-year-old boy had been "adopted" by the group. He is a patient at the Queen Alexandra Solarium and will be cared for by the Brentwood WI. Members also discussed the making up of layettes for Arab refugee babies with flannellette supplied by the WI funds. Plans were made for a pot luck supper to be held for members and families later this month. Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. F. Littlewood and Mrs. D. Worthington.

TODAY'S RECIPE

LACY WALNUT COOKIES

One tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup quick-cooking oats, 1/2 cup finely-chopped walnuts, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt butter. Beat egg and gradually beat in sugar. Stir in butter, oats and walnuts. Add salt, baking powder and vanilla and mix thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls—2 or 3 inches apart to allow for spreading—onto well-greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Remove to wire rack at once. Makes about 30 cookies.

Over 150 styles and colors for every occasion and costume.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Men Are Wise to Cut Down On Their Fat Consumption

This week I am writing for men. I do not want to make my masculine readers feel that they are practically in wheelchairs but realism in facing some of the threats to their health and youthfulness will be rewarding to them.

Here are some interesting facts: The death rate is higher for males than for females—in every age group. The life expectancy of women is six years longer than that of men. More than twice as many men as women suffer from diseases of the heart, blood vessels, and kidneys, and more than 100,000 more men than women die of these each year.

Did you know that among men past 40 heart disease accounts for about one-third of all deaths? Heart disease is on the increase and men seem to be especially subject to it.

As you no doubt have read, the part which fats play in causing heart attacks and other circulatory troubles is a highly controversial subject. Nevertheless, it seems certain that all of us would do well to cut down on our fat consumption in a sensible way from middle age on, for weight control as well as for health.

Some fats are essential but most men habitually eat meals too heavy in fat, such as fat meat, fried potatoes, gravy, pastries and such well-loved dishes as pie a la mode.

The subject of cholesterol deposits in the blood vessels is too unresolved and technical to detail. There evidently are many factors which enter into our cholesterol blood levels and the deposition which occurs in the blood vessels. Some folks have faulty fat metabolism. Also cholesterol can be produced from foods other than fats. Tensions raise the cholesterol levels. It is wise to eat less food as we grow older because we require less and we should keep our fat intake reasonably low.

Overweight greatly increases a man's susceptibility to heart attacks and to diabetes and many other killing or crippling diseases. One of the first health measures you should adopt is a loss of any extra pounds you may have.

If you would like to lose seven to 12 pounds in 12 days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Tubby Hubby Diet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Private Philanthropy Helps In Sickness, Rehabilitation

Speaking to 125 members of the diocesan board of the Women's Auxiliary in St. John's Anglican Church, W. Gilmore, executive secretary of the Community Chest of Victoria, described private philanthropy as the "court of last resource."

Through private philanthropy service clubs help with rehabilitation following illness and in combating disease, he said.

He told of the various ways in which social work may be administered and described social enemies as old age, unemployment, permanent disability, sickness and premature death.

Three lines of defence outlined by Mr. Gilmore in combating these enemies were full employment, social insurance and public welfare.

Mrs. B. P. Harding presided; Mrs. A. E. Relf, vice-president of St. John's Afternoon Branch, welcomed the members. Canon C. W. Downer was celebrant at a communion service, assisted by Canon T. W. Scott, Canon A. W. Gollmer and Rev. Kenneth M. King.

Treasurer's report given by Mrs. F. A. Goodwin showed receipts of $6,019.44; disbursements, $6,400.24, leaving a balance of $11,139.87.

Letters of thanks were read for donations to the Anglican Theological College and to Mrs. Anthony Barker, South Africa, to assist in building a chapel there. Another letter was read from Miss Elsa Peter in Pakistan, thanking the diocese for embroidery made through the technical service association of Pakistan.

Other reports were given by Mrs. E. Jarvis, Dorcas secretary, and Miss Mabel Kuhn, Local Council. Mrs. F. L. Beecher gave the vote of thanks.

Birthday Honored

Mrs. A. Martin, who recently celebrated her 91st birthday, was a special guest at a banquet meeting of the Social Credit Dogwood Women's Auxiliary.

An honorary member, Mrs. Martin was surprised with a birthday cake decorated and brought in by Mrs. Walkemeyer as members sang "Happy Birthday." A corsage was also presented to Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. C. Rhinehart presided at the meeting and introduced speakers Hon. W. Chant, Mrs. Vera Pipes and Archie Brown. Mrs. M. Wilkin conducted election of officers for 1958, who are: Mrs. E. Barker, president; Mrs. H. Minnings, vice-president; Mrs. M. Lund, second; Mrs. Alice Buchan, secretary, and Mrs. C. Rhinehart, treasurer.

Celebrates Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gillespie entertained at the tea hour on Sunday at their Beach Drive home in honor of Mrs. Gillespie's father, Mr. John E. Jones, who celebrated his 80th birthday. The tea table was decorated with fresh spring flowers including tulips, iris and daffodils. Mrs. Joseph Jones presided at the urns. Assisting in the team were Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. F. M. Corbett and Mrs. W. R. Loudon.

Honor Peggy Exton

A replica of the groom-elect's small sports car held gifts at Friday night's shower for Miss Peggy Exton, whose marriage takes place later this month. Miss Mary Nicolson and Miss Janet Nicolson were co-hostesses at their home on Graham Street. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of white gardenias, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. D. J. Mesher, received a corsage of pink carnations. Yellow and white chrysanthemums centred the refreshment table and a shower cake with "Best Wishes, Peggy and veil, which was trimmed with a border of matching lace. Her crescent bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jens M. Jorgensen, of Langham Court, and the groom is the son of Mrs. J. W. Gillam, St. Ann Street.

St. John's Anglican Church was the scene of the wedding at which Rev. Canon T. W. Scott officiated.

Assorted shades of chrysanthemums in tall baskets were used in decorations.

The maid of honor, Miss Glenda Gillam, wore a ballerina-length dress of yellow net, with a wide satin sash in a deeper yellow tone. The bridesmaids, Miss Jocelyn Young and Miss Karen Owen, were in gowns of pink and pale blue, respectively.

All attendants wore little floral crowns in similar shades to their gowns and carried bouquets of golden, mauve and yellow chrysanthemums respectively.

Raymond Hughes was best man, and ushering were Robert Weinberg and Hans Jorgensen. Lloyd Watkins proposed the toast at a traditional wedding supper in the Golden Slipper Supper Club. Roses decorated the wedding cake which centred the bridal table.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. K. Hjort, Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillam, Duncan; Miss L. Naysmith, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. P. Bentsen, Lake Cowichan; Miss E. P. Jensen and Miss J. Hackett, of Chemainus.

Sputnik Spotted Over Vancouver

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—A pass by Sputnik II over Vancouver Sunday was followed by many reports of a strange ball of "bluish-green fire" seen hovering or moving across the sky.

A Sea Island weather observer spotted one of the fire balls, "a bluish-green light," at 9:30 p.m., moving across the sky from southeast to northwest.

GANGSTERS OR HOAX?

VANCOUVER—Police are investigating a strange story of an incident in downtown Vancouver which they say may have been a gang shooting or simply a hoax.

They said five witnesses—four women and a man—told them they heard a shot and saw a man fall in the gutter on central Granville Street late Friday. They said the witnesses told how the apparently wounded man was then dragged into a car which sped off.

The car was described as a 1949 model which had no licence plate. The witnesses said it had been waiting with motor running.

Officers said they were told by one witness that the man appeared to be helping those who were dragging him into the car. Police declined to reveal names of the witnesses.

WOMAN SCORES SIKH

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Muriel Hosken, described as the only white woman to speak in a Sikh temple, urged members of the East Indian sect Sunday to retain beards and turbans.

Mrs. Hosken, a member of the Vancouver Akali Singh Sikh Temple Society, told a congregation at the temple the turban and beard worn by members of the Punjab military (sect) are "outer symbols of splendid inner characteristics".

She criticized the action of Victoria Sikh priest Munsha Singh in posing recently for a newspaper photograph unwinding his turban.

THIEF UNDER BED

VANCOUVER—Mrs. F. C. R. Cann returned home Saturday, saw that a thief had broken in and moved several things, hunted through the house and found him—yes, under the bed. "I put my hand under the bed and a man came out and ran," she said. "I ran too."

Police said the man took only a flashlight and some keys.

BLAST INJURES YOUTH

FORT ST. JOHN—John Fitzovitch, 19, was flown to hospital here Sunday with third-degree burns suffered in an explosion at a Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company well 80

SOUTH AFRICA ELECTION SET

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—South Africa will have a general election April 16, it was announced today.

A government spokesman said last week that Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom, who has been ill, had been urged to stay away from the present short session of parliament, so as to conserve his strength for an election campaign.

A medical bulletin Sunday said Strijdom was suffering from a minor heart complaint, but would be able to resume his normal activities after a rest.

New Assessments Appealed by 125

Some 125 notices of appeal from property assessments have been filed in Saanich, compared with 80 last year.

Most of the appeals have been made by residents of School District 61 where a provincial order to boost the assessment total by almost $7,000,000 has brought general increases, municipal assessor Jack Lindsay said today.

FEB. 13

These appeals will be heard by a three-man court of revision Feb. 13. Appeals by residents of School District 63 will be heard Feb. 3.

Last week's deadline for giving notice of intention to appeal brought few responses in the other Greater Victoria communities.

Victoria city received only half a dozen notices, about one-tenth the normal number. Oak Bay and Esquimalt each reported about a dozen, regarded as normal.

DEWDNEY NOMINATED

TRAIL — Peter Dewdney, 40, of Trail Saturday won the right to represent the Kootenay West Progressive Conservative Association in the next federal election.

DIRTY HANDS BETRAY BOYS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Police halted two boys, 11 and 8, Sunday and asked them what they were doing out on curfew-cleared streets at 4:10 a.m.

The boys replied they had a job scrubbing floors in a downtown hotel. The skeptical officers checked and learned the two had been making nightly raids on a charity wishing well in the hotel basement.

Why hadn't police believed the boys scrubbed floors? Explained one officer, "Their hands were too dirty."

Barque Pamir's Loss Blamed on Captain

LUEBECK, West Germany (Reuters)—A maritime board ruled today that the sailing manoeuvres of the four-masted barque Pamir when she foundered last fall were "contrary to the accepted sailing rules."

The 3,020-ton Pamir sank in an Atlantic hurricane off the Azores Sept. 21, with the loss of 80 lives, most of them teenage cadets.

Board chairman Eckart Luhmann said in the findings at the end of a six-day inquiry that "the possibility exists that the lack of familiarity of the captain, Johannes Diebitsch, 61, with the particular sailing conditions and stability of the Pamir, and the limited sailing ship experience of the first officer may have had adverse effects."

Leader of Klan Shot Up By Indians Faces Jury

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Sheriff Malcolm McLeod says he will ask a grand jury today to indict a Ku Klux Klan leader who had his rally shot out from under him by whooping Indians.

The Robeson County law officer said Sunday night he wanted charges of inciting to riot brought against Rev. James Cole of Marion, S.C., self-styled KKK leader.

Cole, claiming he was denied legal rights because he is a member of the white race, said he planned legal action against the sheriff, also a white man.

But later, Cole said the Klan should turn the other cheek as far as further action may be concerned.

BROKEN UP BY GUNFIRE

Cole's rally near here Saturday night ended with Klansmen and spectators scrambling for safety as whooping Indians fired rifles, shotguns and pistols.

Although Indians fired for 10 minutes while people milled about in pitch darkness, only four men were wounded—none of them seriously. Apparently most of the shots were fired into the air.

Simeon Oxendine, son of the mayor of the Indian community of Pembroke, proudly wrapped himself in a captured KKK banner and winked at reporters.

Oxendine said: "I don't know how many Indians were there last night, but there were enough to do a job."

"They won't come back. There'll be bloodshed if they do."

There are about 40,000 white people, 30,000 Indians and 25,000 Negroes in Robeson County.

BURN CROSSES

Race relations in Robeson have been generally peaceful, but Indians were aroused last week by two cross burnings. One was in front of the home of an Indian woman who was reported dating a white married man.

The other was burned in a white neighborhood where an Indian family had occupied a house. The Saturday rally was reported to be a final warning to Indians to watch their step.

After both groups gathered, a white-hooded Klansman appeared at a microphone. Klansmen rushed toward an electric light illuminating the field and encircling Indians herded them in.

Suddenly an Indian smashed the bulb with his rifle barrel. "Start shootin' boys!" a voice cried from the darkness and gunfire crashed.

The crowd scattered, racing for the safety of their cars. State highway patrolmen cleared the field and escorted Klan cars through the jeering Indians, who slammed at the cars with guns and sticks as they passed.

Then the Indians carried off the Klan banner and a Klan cross and held their own rally. They burned the cross and hanged an effigy of Cole.

"ALL A MISTAKE"

Cole, a Freewill Baptist minister, said the whole thing was a misunderstanding.

He said the cross burnings were not aimed at Indians at all.

"That woman was breaking up a married man's home. It would have been the same if she had been a Negro or a white woman. The other cross was burned in front of a white home, a block away from the Indian family. That was social reasons too. Nothing to do with the race."

450 Hungarians Due

HALIFAX (CP)—Some 450 Hungarian refugees were scheduled to arrive here today aboard the liner Vulcania from Naples, Italy. Most will be settled in the Maritimes. About 175 of the immigrants have been living in Yugoslav refugee camps for about a year.

HAPPY HUNTING they enjoyed in the rout of a KKK rally Saturday night at Maxton, N.C., is reflected in the faces of Charlie Warriax (left) and Simeon Oxendine, Lumbee Indians. The tribe took no Klan scalps but they brought a trophy back in the form of a KKK banner which they wear like a blanket—(AP wirephoto)

NEGRO SCHOOL BOMB-BLASTED

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An explosion of a home-made bomb near a Chattanooga Negro school of 3,000 pupils caused damage estimated at about $1,000, police said today. No injuries were reported.

The explosion was the latest in a series of incidents of violence in Negro-populated sections of Chattanooga and Hamilton County.

Noted Lawyer, Eddie Murphy, Dies in East

TORONTO (CP)—One of Toronto's best known criminal lawyers, Edward Joseph (Eddie) Murphy, 62, died Sunday in hospital.

Among his famous cases as a Crown prosecutor Mr. Murphy counted Norman (Red) Ryan's trial in the late 1920s. Ryan, one of Canada's most notorious criminals, was shot and killed in 1936 during a robbery in Sarnia, Ont., after he had been paroled in 1935.

NATURAL GAS

Alberta accounts for almost 90 per cent of Canada's production of natural gas.

U.S. Warned Nerve Gas Ideal Missile Warhead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some military experts here are considering the possibility that an enemy in future war might hit American target cities with ballistic missiles bearing nerve gas that could kill or paralyze their populations.

With this strategy, defence of an area could conceivably be wiped out while the factories, offices and homes of a city itself would be left unscathed. The facilities thus could be used by occupation forces.

Such a weapon might be used in conjunction with a general nuclear weapon onslaught, being applied to selected targets earmarked for post-war use.

Presumably the equipment for such warfare is available to both Russia and the United States. Both have stockpiles of the gas and both are in the process of perfecting the medium and long-range missiles which could fire them.

PIMPLES

If ugly, disfiguring blemishes, pimples, acne, itching, scaly skin, psoriasis, eczema, athlete's foot, blackheads, or red blotches embarrass you, try NIXODERM tonight. Works while you sleep. 1. Cures itching, burning, smarting in 7 minutes. 2. Kills many germs, often the real cause of skin disorders. 3. Helps heal the skin, softer, smoother, lighter. Ask your druggist for NIXODERM today. Satisfaction or money back. And to clean your skin antiseptically use NIXODERM Medicated Soap.

In the United States, the army has the responsibility for development and production of the materials for chemical, biological-radiological warfare. But all three services are in the missile business.

Those familiar with the studies say the nature of nerve gas makes it ideal for missile use. Some nerve gases (there are several types) are enormously concentrated materials. A relatively few pounds have the potential of striking down tens of thousands of persons.

The size of a ballistic missile warhead, presumably would be ample for delivery of a complete one-shot treatment of a target city.

Interception of ballistic missiles is impossible at present, and will continue to be difficult until the detection-interception methods are well advanced. A mid-air burst probably would be used to provide broad spread of the gas over a target.

King Olav Crowned

OSLO, Norway (Reuters)—Olav today formally became King of Norway at a simple ceremony in the Storting parliament.

Olav, 54, succeeded his late father, King Haakon, last Sept. 21. He was "crowned" today at a brief ceremony in which he swore to honor the Norwegian constitution.

Olav declared the government in 1958 will work to strengthen and develop political, economic and defence co-operation in NATO.

"Emphasis will be placed on building up Norwegian defence to meet the demands of technical and military developments," he said.

HUNTER KNOCKED OUT BY ANGRY WILD GOOSE

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—An angry wild goose felled its hunter near here Sunday.

The bird, winged by a shotgun blast, took aim at its attacker and struck him in the stomach, knocking him unconscious.

When the hunter recovered five minutes later, the goose had been finished off by a better marksman.

Greeted by Hillary, Who Will Help Party to Completion of Epic Trek

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his 11-man British ground team reached the South Pole today and announced they firmly intend to press on to the other side of Antarctica.

DR. VIVIAN FUCHS
... two-day rest

Tough and fit despite the gruelling 57-day trek across more than 900 miles of snow and ice, the British explorer said he would go on as planned to Scott Base, on McMurdo Sound, for the first overland crossing of the continent. He will leave in two days.

Fuchs and his team left Shackleton Base on the South American side of the pole Nov. 24 for their unprecedented 2,100-mile crossing of Antarctica.

Rear Admiral George Dufek, chief of the U.S. base at the pole, and Sir Edmund Hillary, who reached the pole overland 16 days ago, were on hand to greet the 12 Britons who had travelled on terrain no man had set foot on before.

HEARTY WELCOME

The party reached the pole at 1:08 p.m. (5:08 p.m. PST) Sunday.

Hillary and Dufek met the Britons a mile from the polar base. As the tractor train pulled up with flags flying, Hillary advanced to greet Fuchs.

"Hello, Bunny," said the conqueror of Mt. Everest, and the two men shook hands warmly.

Fuchs appeared surprised by the welcoming party and battery of cameras.

"I say—this is rather unexpected," the veteran, 49-year-old explorer commented.

The hearty exchange of greetings appeared to discount reports of coolness between Hillary and Fuchs. These spread when the New Zealand, after reaching the pole recommended that Fuchs not try to make the trans-Arctic crossing because of impending bad weather. Fuchs replied he would complete his mission.

It was announced earlier that Hillary would accompany the Fuchs party at least part of the remaining trek across the continent.

Justice Kellock Resigns

OTTAWA (CP)—Resignation of Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock as a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada and appointment to that court of Ronald Martland, Edmonton lawyer, were announced today by Justice Minister Fulton.

Mr. Justice Kellock, 64, has resigned for health reasons, effective Jan. 15. He has been a member of the high court since 1944.

The appointment of Mr. Martland fills a western vacancy on the nine-judge bench caused by the death last July of Mr. Justice Henry G. Nolan.

No successor to Mr. Justice Kellock was named.

Canadian Jobless Total at 386,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians without jobs and seeking work totalled 386,000 at Dec. 15, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

The figure was up from 292,000 at Nov. 16 and compared with 196,000 at mid-December of 1956.

Employment in mid-December of last year was estimated at 5,580,000, about 118,000 lower than the previous month but 25,000 higher than a year earlier.

The 118,000-person decline in employment was the sharpest for any one month during the last several years, the bureau said. There also was an increase in the number of persons working part-time.

Not included in the jobless total were 29,000 workers on temporary layoffs.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Almighty Father, we have heard the mighty roaring of the waves on the shore. We have seen the fearful storm clouds driving ships like chaff before. Thou hast moved upon the waters of the ceaseless, restless sea. Fill our hearts with holy yearning till we find our peace in Thee. Amen.

Resignation of Government Demanded by Lester Pearson

Alice at Play

Alice, B.C.'s famous white killer whale, returned to Victoria waters briefly Sunday with two black buddies, and the three mammals staged a thrilling aquatic show for some 60 spectators near Harling Point. Stunts included everything from blowing water to standing on their heads with their tails out of the water. It was a hey-day for photographers, who managed to get some rare pictures of the white whale. T. L. Sinclair got this one. (See story on page 15.)

Move May Not Bring Election At This Time

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson today demanded that the Diefenbaker Progressive Conservative government resign and that the Liberals take over the administration without an immediate election.

Mr. Pearson said he would make a motion to this effect.

It appeared certain, however, that neither the CCF nor Social Credit groups could support such a motion.

This would mean that the Conservatives would stay in office unless they wanted to resign on their own hook.

Mr. Pearson said the government, if it wished, could resign "at any time they see fit."

He gave as his reason for the motion: "There has been a deterioration in the Canadian economy during these months since the Conservatives took office."

Mr. Pearson, apparently arguing against an immediate election, started to say "an election at this time in the winter months..." when his words were cut off by shouting.

The voice of Transport Minister Hees could be heard above the tumult: "An election at this time would beat the pants off you and you know it."

Cries of derision from the Conservatives greeted Mr. Pearson's statement that his motion would not be designed to bring on an immediate election.

An election at this time would not help solve the unemployment problem, he said. Action should be taken now on this problem and it was the Liberals that should take it.

(From CP and UP Dispatches)

OTTAWA — The biggest Commons audience since the 1956 pipeline debate today watched new Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson take his new seat as official opposition leader.

Desk-thumping and cheers greeted the entrance of Mr. Pearson. He took the seat occupied until Saturday by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. The former prime minister today sat at Mr. Pearson's immediate left.

The public galleries were packed to overflowing. The galleries have 576 seats. Almost another 100 persons were standing behind the seats and others were waiting in the corridors for an opportunity to enter.

The big crowd came partly to see Mr. Pearson assume his position of opposition leader but more to find out whether the Liberals would try to overthrow the government.

After tributes had been exchanged, Mr. Pearson told a packed Commons he hopes to emulate Prime Minister Diefenbaker in one respect. That is, he said, "to stay in this position as short a time as he was successful in."

This was a reference to the fact that after Mr. Diefenbaker was elected Progressive Conservative leader in December, 1956, he led his party to victory six months later, and became prime minister June 21, 1957.

Mr. Pearson said his new post is not a case of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, "but out of the convention into the Commons—which is a good place to be."

He said he is dedicated to the removal from office of the Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the position of prime minister taxes health and strength, and then added quickly: "But I'm back here better than ever."

The prime minister was confined to bed most of last week because of a severely strained back.

Earlier today a Liberal parliamentary caucus left in the hands of Mr. Pearson the decision on whether to try to topple the Diefenbaker government this afternoon and force a general election.

Informants said after the closed meeting of senators and Commons members that individuals expressed varied views but that no vote on the critical issue was taken and that it was left to Mr. Pearson to decide between the 12:50 p.m. (9:50 p.m. PST) breakup of the caucus and the opening of the House sitting this afternoon.

Mr. Pearson, emerging from the meeting, said: "Any decision I reach as the result of the caucus will be made between now and the opening of the sitting and announced to the Commons."

radio interview that the missile "will do the job that we have set out for it to do and it will be accurate enough."

Pressed to indicate just how accurate it would be, General Schriever said "This is a security matter which I really can't speak on."

Social assistance—that is what the provincial government, which pays 80 per cent, and the municipalities, which pay 20 per cent, call it.

This is what it is—in monthly cash payments to people who have assets of no more than $250 and no income.

Single men and women get $50 a month.

A family of two gets $76.50.

A family of three gets $92.50.

A family of four, $108.50.

Five, $124.50.

Six, $140.50.

Seven, $156.50.

This money, say provincial and municipal authorities, should cover food, shelter and "sundries."

Care for Four on $108.50 Month

Ever try to feed, clothe and shelter a family of four on $108.50 a month, then spread around a little money for "sundries"?

In Victoria alone there are 400 units—765 persons—living on social assistance. They wouldn't know a sundry if it landed in their laps. And nothing comes that easily for the physically and mentally disabled.

The vast majority of single persons involved are over 50 years of age.

They're living in a limbo between the employed and the pensioned. "A lot of them have five or more years to wait for that extra $25," Mr. Hooson said.

The families are mainly women with dependent children. Their husbands have either died or deserted.

The Health and Welfare Centre encourages mothers to stay home where they can care for their families. However, if they work, they are allowed to earn $20 a month without forfeiting their right to social assistance. Three-fourths of their earnings above that amount is deducted.

Macmillan Has Cold, Denies Snub to Aussie

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today on his Commonwealth tour and found himself accused of snubbing Australians when his plane stopped off briefly at Sydney.

Taken aback, the British leader said he was in bed with a cold and fast asleep during the Sydney stopover. That was why he did not meet Australia's air minister, F. M. Osborne, who was on hand to greet him.

Macmillan said he will apologize to Osborne. He said he didn't wake up until the plane was 90 minutes out of Auckland.

New Zealand's Prime Minister Walter Nash met Macmillan at the airport. The British leader has already visited India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

I've heard o' boxers sparrin' fer an openin', but Mike an' John are sparrin' fer a closin'.

With nobody at all wantin' it, it's funny how poverty has hung on so long in th' world.

ST. LAURENT NOT RETIRING

OTTAWA (CP)—Retired Liberal leader St. Laurent indicated today he has no immediate intention of stepping completely out of public life.

Responding in the Commons to good wishes and expressions of regret at his decision to relinquish his party's leadership, Mr. St. Laurent, who will be 76 Feb. 1, said "I am not taking leave of the House at this moment."

Two B.C. Lawyers Disbarred

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two lawyers, one of whom disappeared on a plane flight last month, have been disbarred for life in British Columbia.

The action was taken Saturday by the benchers of the law society of B.C. against Hugh T. Fitzsimmons of Abbotsford and Harold MacKeen Bisset of White Rock.

Fitzsimmons, who disappeared in a small rented plane Dec. 12 on a flight from Langley to Victoria, was found guilty of "producing false documents which he knew to be false and forged" to the Registrar of Titles in New Westminster, B.C.

M. M. McFarlane, chairman of the benchers' discipline committee, said Fitzsimmons had been served before his disappearance with notice to appear before the benchers.

Bisset was found guilty of misappropriation of a client's money.

Fliers Think Each Other Sick — Fight for Control of Bomber

LONDON (AP)—The story of a pilot and navigator wrestling for the controls of a diving RAF jet bomber, each thinking the other was "drunk" from lack of oxygen has been made public by the air ministry.

A few weeks ago the two-man crew of a Canberra bomber was ordered to take the twin-jet plane up to 35,000 feet. The trouble started at 30,000.

The intercom broke down. The pilot didn't know this. All he knew was that he heard some mumbling from the navigator's end, then his name being called out, and silence.

An explanation flashed into his mind—anoxia, intoxication due to lack of oxygen which occasionally afflicts airmen at a high altitude.

He put the plane into a dive toward denser air, bending over the controls.

The navigator couldn't understand why they should be diving, since they were supposed to go higher. He rushed to the controls and saw the pilot, bending, checking his instruments, and thought he had fallen into a slump.

He grabbed at the controls

'Accurate' Missile By U.S. Before 1960

WASHINGTON (CP)—Major Gen. Bernard Schriever, U.S. Air Force missile chief, predicted Sunday that the United States will have an "accurate enough" 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile ready by the end of 1959.

He told questioners in a TV-

radio interview that the missile "will do the job that we have set out for it to do and it will be accurate enough."

Pressed to indicate just how accurate it would be, General Schriever said "This is a security matter which I really can't speak on."

SWISS NOT CONVENING
SUMMIT MEET FOR REDS

BERN (AP)—Switzerland told the Soviet Union today it will not take the initiative to convene a new summit meeting in Geneva at this time.

A note handed to the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow was Switzerland's reply to a letter received from Premier Nikolai Bulganin in December.

That letter hinted the Swiss should help maintain world peace by inviting the big powers to a new summit meeting. Such an invitation was issued by Switzerland in November, 1956, at the height of the Suez and Hungarian crises, but was rejected by the Western powers.

The Rats Go By

I HAD a dream, and, in my dream, I was wandering through a strange, ugly world. It was a little like our world, but everything in it was distorted so that my dreaming eyes could see nothing but rats, running round and round in a terrible race that seemed to have no ending.

I saw that there were old rats and young rats, plump ones and thin ones, and some which looked tired and tottery as if they had lost all zest for the race but kept running out of habit.

Then, I saw that, under a tree, was an old peaceful rat, resting comfortably in the shade.

"How do you do," I said, smiling, in my dream.

"Coming to sit?" he asked, patting the cool green grass beside him. "The dust of the race doesn't reach us here."

"Why do they do it?" I asked, as we sat in the shade and watched the stream of rats go by.

"Can't help themselves," my rat companion said. "Most of them get caught up in the race when they're young. Once they're really in it, they've a hard time getting out. The prizes are very great, you see. Though sometimes the prizes crumble into dust as the winners touch them."

"Do you know the rules of the race?" I asked.

"I sure do," he said. "I used to teach the rules to the young ones. I used to catch them before the teaching of home and school and church could sink too deep. Then, suddenly, I couldn't do it any more."

Here my companion paused and nibbled on a blade of grass. Then he told me how he used to teach the young rats that sales were all that mattered. Never mind how they got the sales. So long as they got them. Because if they didn't make the sales, some other guy would. And the little left-behinds would find themselves picking their food out of garbage cans.

"I seem to have heard that somewhere else," I said.

"I bet you have," said my companion. "But there was one young rat who said he couldn't high-pressure simple types into buying things they didn't want or need, and couldn't afford. We pushed him out of the race pretty fast, I can tell you."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

"I dunno. Went to work for the government, I guess. Probably scratching away at a forgotten file in an official labyrinth. Getting precious little pay and no coffee breaks!"

I laughed because he seemed to expect it. "Or feeding vital statistics into a machine that punches 'em where it hurts?" I suggested.

"Punching?" said the old rat. "That reminds me of a young fellow I was teaching. Bright-eyed chap, big and powerful, and eager as could be. I thought he'd really go places."

"Didn't he?" I asked.

"He was doing fine till I told him that if the woman of the house asked him to come back in the evening when her husband was there, he must clinch the sale right then because the husbands always turned thumbs down on that particular deal."

"Yes," I prompted.

"That's when he turned ugly. Said he figured he'd be a husband one day, and would I like to see what he'd do to an old rat who taught young ones how to trick his wife."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

But the dream was fading fast, and all I could hear was the squeaking of the rats in the distance, and the curious sound made by millions of racing, scurrying feet.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Gracie Rocks Her Role

LONDON—The entertainment world... Very sad about Gracie Fields, now 60 years of age. For well over 30 years she has been dear to the hearts of the English. Until now.

Cause of the change of attitude was her flop at the Royal command variety show. The public has always expected of Gracie the old songs—humorous and sentimental—with which she made her name.

She was in the tradition of England's old-time music hall artists—get a good act together and, apart from a few modifications from year to year, keep serving this up and the faithful British public will go on lapping it up indefinitely.

Such old-timers as George Robey, Marie Lloyd, Harry Tate, Nellie Wallace, Florrie Ford, Will Hay, Vesta Tilley never felt it necessary to stop singing the old songs and cracking the old jokes. Back in those days, without the demands of talkies, radio and TV for new material, a standard line of patter and a fixed repertoire of songs could last any artist a lifetime.

But Gracie got it into her head that we are in a changing world, one must move with the times. So when she shook the stage for the variety show her big number, or what she thought would be her big number, was Born To Be Your Baby, a rock 'n' roll item. And the performance of the 60-year-old Queen of Show Business was pitiful. The audience greeted it in embarrassed silence.

Afterwards a tearful Gracie said: "Am I finished? Does anybody want me any more?" The public's verdict: at 60, with lots of money, lovely home in Capri and wonderful career behind you—that's a good time to retire.

Further proof that Canadian TV plays are regarded here as top-notch. The London Star, slating British TV drama, asks: "When are we going to produce plays at the calibre of Arthur Hailey's Course for Collision and Flight Into Danger?" Hailey's the Seeds of Power is eagerly awaited.

Offerings Double
For St. David's

Congregation of St. David's by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, gave $5,049 to the church in 1957, more than double the total of offerings in the previous year. It was reported at an annual meeting Sunday.

The increase in giving spelled success for the church's 21-month "Campaign of Advance" which started last April. On the basis of an $8,050 proposed budget, the vicarage debt should stand at $3,100 at the end of this year, and the organ should be paid for in full, the meeting was told.

Negroes Make Grade

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Eight Negro students attending Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., are making grades of A and B. Mrs. Daisy Bates, Arkansas president of the National Association for the advancement of Colored People, said Sunday. A ninth Negro student has a C average.

U.S. Economy Can Provide
Security Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the U.S. can lick the recession this year, pay in full the cost of meeting Russia's new challenge, and go forward to "real economic growth without inflation."

His economic report, third and last of the annual White House messages to Congress, carried a 42-point program of home-front legislation. Most of the requests were familiar, but Eisenhower said they now are "urgent."

He gave no hint that the administration is considering tax cuts, public works or deliberate deficits and avoided even the words "recession" or "depression."

SLUMP CAME EARLY

Eisenhower disclosed that the slump began sooner and hit harder than officials had expected. In the last three months national production dropped $6,000,000,000, or 1½ per cent, he said, from the record rate of $439,000,000,000 a year achieved in the previous quarter.

"The latest challenge of international communism will require a further increase in the economic claims of national security, which are already heavy," Eisenhower said.

"If we follow suitable private and public policies, this challenge can be met without distorting our economy, or destroying the freedoms that we cherish."

"Whatever our national security requires, our economy can provide and we can afford to pay."

Reporting record U.S. exports in 1957, Eisenhower said a further rise depends on opening American markets more to foreign goods.

The president disclosed that exports soared last year to $26,300,000,000 — $2,800,000,000 higher than the previous record set in 1956.

Foreign shipments to the United States also set a record — $20,600,000,000 — during the year. But the president's report stressed American shipments abroad were nearly $6,000,000,000 higher. To maintain what he termed a soundly-based foreign economic policy, Eisenhower again asked Congress to (1) extend the Reciprocal Trade Agree-

Old Arsenal Found

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An arsenal of 130 pistols and hundreds of rounds of ammunition was found cached Sunday in the staircase of a North Philadelphia home. Some of the guns were loaded. Detectives said they may have been placed there by gangsters during prohibition days. Six deep sea fishing rods found with the weapons were wrapped in a Philadelphia newspaper dated May 24, 1932.

Musicians Killed

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Three members of Ray Eberle's orchestra were among five persons killed in a highway accident near here Sunday. The state highway patrol identified the victims as: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Colosimo, Woodside, N.Y., and Salvatore Carbone, East Meadow, Long Island, N.Y., members of the Eberle orchestra.

Do you ever suffer from irritability, tense nerves, depression, or feelings of unhappiness?

People sometimes experience symptoms like these when their systems become aggravated by certain irritating elements found in ordinary beverages. Some people drink tea, coffee, cocoa and some soft drinks without harm to themselves. But others cannot.

Postum does not contain stimulants such as caffeine, theobromine and theophylline which can cause irritability, jumpy nerves, sleeplessness. Postum contains no tannin. Tannin, as you know, sometimes upsets digestion.

You don't need to take chances. Switch to Instant Postum. Postum is comforting. Postum does not taste or act like any other beverage, but has a distinctive flavor of its own. Make Postum easily, instantly right in your cup. Simply add freshly boiling water, stir, and enjoy.

Try Postum for 30 days. When nerves are calmed, dispositions brighten, irritability vanishes. You sleep better, feel better, look better — and you're less irritable. Get Instant Postum at your grocer's. Costs less than 1¢ a cup.

Step out of the shadow of irritability

Low-Priced Mines

Lead Toronto Higher

Featured by a few speculative mining issues stock prices at Toronto edged higher today.

Low-priced mines continued to attract interest as they did in the last two sessions last week. The remainder of the market managed to squeeze out a mild advance but it lacked steam.

Prices at New York remained ahead on average in late afternoon trading with rails lower following their rise of last week. The market went to the upside in anticipation of President Eisenhower's economic message. After the message

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most of the activity was concentrated in flax today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Exporters were fair buyers and offerings came in the form of light hedging sales and commission house selling. Prices were fairly steady.

There were no reports of any new overseas flax business although there were some inquiries.

Oats and barley trade was light and had a domestic appearance, with a few shipping orders for export.

Rye prices were irregular. United States interests were both buyers and sellers.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat were: Soviet Russia, 350,000 bushels; The Netherlands, 215,000; and the United Kingdom, 50,000.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — A good snowfall in the winter wheat belt and reports that Pakistan is out of the export market for the present held wheat futures prices lower on the board of trade most of today.

At the close, wheat was 1/4c cent lower, March $2.18 1/4; corn was 1/4c lower, March $1.11 1/4; oats 1/4c lower, March 63c; rye unchanged to 1/4c lower, March $1.27 1/4 and soybeans unchanged to 1/4c higher, Jan. $2.24 1/4.

AT NEW YORK

At New York, Walker-Goodman was up 1/4, and Dome Mines gained 1/4 among Canadian issues. Aluminium Limited was up 1/4. International Nickel, Canadian Pacific and Distillers-Seagrams were all lower. Granby and Hudson Bay were unchanged in mines.

On the American Stock Exchange Fargo and Scurry-Rainbow Oils showed the only gains among Canadian issues. Brazil Frac, Canadian Marconi, East Dome, Jupiter Oils and Sapphir Petroleum all took slight losses.

AT MONTREAL

Prices turned higher today in trading on the stock exchange. Trading was light in the industrials and moderate in the mines and oils.

Construction was strong with Gypsum Lime up 1/4 at 33 and Foundation up 1/4 at 17. In a firm newspaper group, Consolidated Paper was up 1/4 at 31 1/2 and Price Brothers up 1/4 at 37 1/2.

AT LONDON

The stock market started the week on a subdued note.

A statement by the British Chancellor of the Exchequer that deflation measures are to be maintained restricted buying. The one bright spot was government securities. In foreign bonds German municipal issues were again in demand.

Dollar stocks were irregular. Industrials were quiet and narrowly irregular.

South African gold shares drifted lower in the absence of support.

Copper shares were lower following a further decline in the price of the metal.

Needed Says Ex-Works Chief

TORONTO (CP) — More consideration for contractors, particularly when working for the government, was advocated today by Robert Winters, former minister of public works and now president of Rio Tinto mining company of Canada Ltd.

Addressing the Canadian Club on "Business and Government Relations," Mr. Winters said that as a minister, he had many times felt that private enterprise asked the government to do things which it could more appropriately do itself.

There are, however, he added, many phases of private enterprise which do not look for or receive government assistance, and some of these merit more consideration than they receive.

"One group I have in mind," he continued, "are those rugged characters, the contractors."

7,602,285 Shares

NEW YORK (CP) — An international investment banking syndicate today began underwriting a world-wide offering by Royal Dutch Shell Petroleum Co. to its stockholders of 7,602,285 shares at $30 each.

Rights for the offering, which will raise about $228,000,000 capital, will be at the rate of one new share for each eight owned of record Jan. 17. The subscription offer expires Feb. 10.

Imperial Oil's

Outlay in Canada

Passes $1 Billion

TORONTO (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd. this year will pass the $1,000,000,000 mark in the amount of money it has invested in Canada since it discovered oil at Leduc, Alta., in 1947.

J. R. White, president, in announcing this total, said the company plans a continued high rate of activity in all phases of operations in 1958.

Projected outlays to find and develop oil and for new plant and equipment are about $133,000,000 and in line with average expenditures for these purposes in recent years.

Just under half of this year's sum will go for exploration and development extending from British Columbia to the Atlantic provinces.

The balance will go for construction jobs at refineries across the country, new petrochemical projects at Sarnia, Ont., and improvements of marketing facilities in all provinces.

In the 11 years since the Leduc discovery, the company has invested money at a rate roughly double its net earnings during the period.

CALGARY (CP)—Great Britain leads the world in developing peacetime industrial uses of atomic energy, D. R. F. Brower, of the United Kingdom Information Service, in Vancouver, said Monday.

Mr. Brower, addressing students and members of the staff at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, added that Britain expects to build 19 atomic power stations in the next nine years.

Mr. Brower said Britain seeks to cut the cost of nuclear power in half during the next 10 to 15 years.

One atomic power station has been in operation in the United Kingdom for more than a year, he noted. Five additional stations are being built.

Fuchs at Pole;
To Push Onward

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his 11-man British ground team reached the South Pole today and announced they firmly intend to press on to the other side of Antarctica.

Tough and fit despite the gruelling 57-day trek across more than 900 miles of snow and ice, the British explorer said he would go on as planned to Scott Base, on McMurdo Sound, for the first overland crossing of the continent. He will leave in two days.

Fuchs and his team left Shackleton Base on the South American side of the pole Nov. 24 for their unprecedented 2,100-mile crossing of Antarctica.

Rear Admiral George Dufek, chief of the U.S. base at the pole, and Sir Edmund Hillary, who reached the pole overland 16 days ago, were on hand to greet the 12 Britons who had travelled on terrain no man had set foot on before.

Hillary and Dufek met the Britons a mile from the pole base. As the tractor train pulled up with flags flying, Hillary advanced to greet Fuchs.

"Hello, Bunny," said the conqueror of Mt. Everest, and the two men shook hands warmly.

Fuchs appeared surprised by the welcoming party and battery of cameras.

"I say—this is rather unexpected," the veteran, 49-year-old explorer commented.

The hearty exchange of greetings appeared to discount reports of coolness between Hillary and Fuchs. These spread when the New Zealander, after reaching the pole recommended that Fuchs not try to make the trans-Arctic crossing because of impending bad weather. Fuchs replied he would complete his mission.

It was announced earlier that Hillary would accompany the Fuchs party at least part of the remaining trek across the continent.

MAY NOT FORCE ELECTION

PEARSON DEMANDS
TORIES QUIT NOW'Turn Over to Us'
He Says in House

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson today demanded that the Diefenbaker Progressive Conservative government resign and that the Liberals take over the administration without an immediate election.

Mr. Pearson said he would make a motion to this effect.

It appeared certain, however, that neither the CCF nor Social Credit groups could support such a motion.

This would mean that the Conservatives would stay in office unless they wanted to resign on their own hook.

Mr. Pearson said the government, if it wished, could resign "at any time they see fit."

He gave as his reason for the motion:

"There has been a deterioration in the Canadian economy during these months since the Conservatives took office . . . of a kind that makes us believe that the Canadian people would welcome an immediate return to a government which would apply Liberal policies to our national administration."

Mr. Pearson, apparently arguing against an immediate election, started to say "an election at this time in the winter months . . ."

He was cut off by shouting. The voice of Transport Minister Hees could be heard above the tumult: "An election at this time would beat the pants off you and you know it."

Cries of derision from the Conservatives greeted Mr. Pearson's statement that his motion would not be designed to bring on an immediate election.

An election at this time would not help solve the unemployment problem, he said. Action should be taken now on this problem and it was the Liberals that should take it.

"If an election comes, however, we will be ready for it," Mr. Pearson declared to cheers from the Liberals and cat-calls from the Conservatives.

An election now would leave millions of Canadians in the position of choosing a government without adequate information on the present "paralysis of government."

Later, Mr. Pearson moved a motion seconded by his predecessor, Louis St. Laurent, criticizing the government for its trade policies, its action toward farm problems, its relations with the provinces and its action on unemployment.

Diefenbaker Taunts Liberals

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, starting to speak after Mr. Pearson, taunted him for the position the Liberals have taken.

In a reference to Mr. Pearson's speech last Thursday accepting the Liberal leadership, the prime minister said: "On Thursday there was shrieking defiance; on the following Monday there is shrinking indecision."

He said he wanted to congratulate him for discharging his duties as opposition leader.

"But those are not words of congratulation for his courage, let me tell you that."

The prime minister shrugged off the Liberal motion of non-confidence as "so worded there is no possibility of this government being defeated."

He said no party in the House comes.

(From CP and UP Dispatches)

OTTAWA — The biggest Commons audience since the 1956 pipeline debate today watched new Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson take his new seat as official opposition leader.

Desk-thumping and cheers greeted the entrance of Mr. Pearson. He took the seat occupied until Saturday by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. The former prime minister today sat at Mr. Pearson's immediate left.

The public galleries were packed to overflowing. The galleries have 576 seats. Almost another 100 persons were standing behind the seats and others were waiting in the corridors for an opportunity to enter.

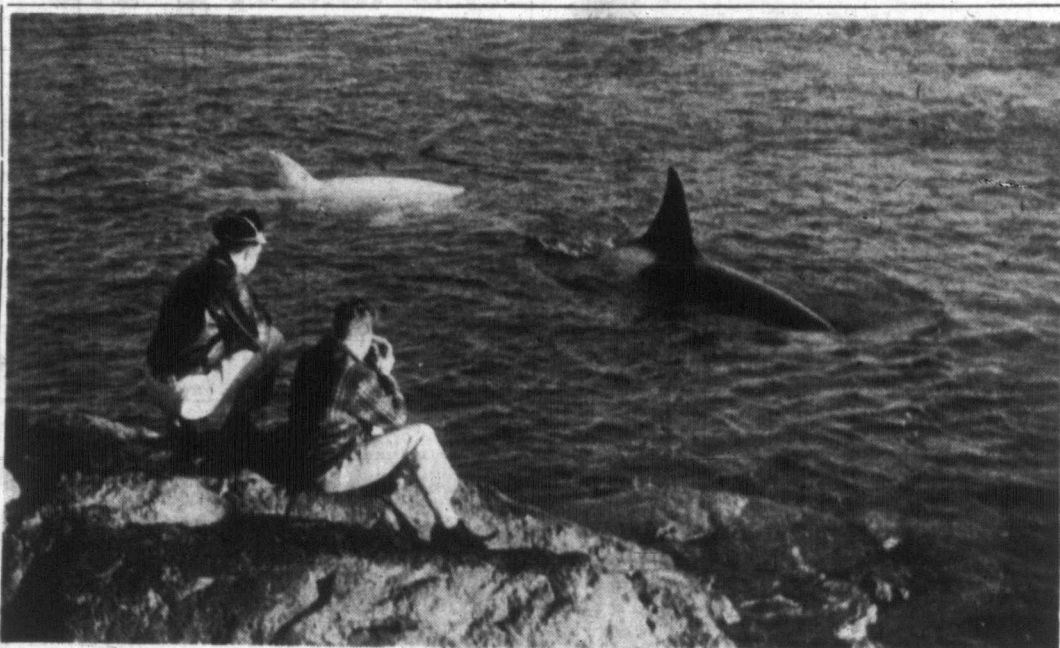

The big crowd came partly to see Mr. Pearson assume his position of opposition leader but more to find out whether the Liberals would try to overthrow the government.

After tributes had been exchanged, Mr. Pearson told a packed Commons he hopes to emulate Prime Minister Diefenbaker in one respect. That is, he said, "to stay in this position as short a time as he was successful in."

This was a reference to the fact that after Mr. Diefenbaker was elected Progressive Conservative leader in December, 1956, he led his party to victory six months later, and became prime minister June 21, 1957.

Mr. Pearson said his new post is not a case of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, "but out of the convention into the Commons—which is a good place to be."

Canadian Jobless
Total at 386,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians without jobs and seeking work agency compared with 352,044 at Nov. 16 and compared with 196,000 at mid-December, 1956.

The figure was up from 292,000 at Nov. 16 and compared with 196,000 at mid-December, 1956.

Employment in mid-December of last year was estimated at 5,580,000, about 118,000 lower than the previous month but 25,000 higher than a year earlier.

The 118,000-person decline in employment was the sharpest for any one month during the last several years, the bureau said. There also was an increase in the number of persons working part-time.

Not included in the jobless total were 29,000 workers on temporary layoffs.

A good part of the sharp reduction in the work force was attributed to layoffs in motor vehicles and parts plants and an unusually short pulp-cutting season.

The figures are based on a sampling of 30,000 households taken periodically by the statistics bureau.

The bureau's estimate was accompanied by figures from National Employment Service showing that at Dec. 12 there were 570,674 persons registered

SOCIAL ASSISTANCE SERIES

'Forgotten Few'
Face Grim Life

(To 765 Victorians on social assistance, life has become grim existence. They are the lowest in the city's social order. To them, a pensioner seems well-to-do. In many ways he is, for pensioners receive up to $25 more each month than an unemployed man or woman. City welfare officials feel it is high time the situation was rectified. Their reasons will be given in this series, along with reports of some Victorians who live on "assistance existence.")

By DINAH KERR

Last November the federal government added $9 to old age pension cheques.

Pensioners now receive up to $75 a month.

And, says William Hooson, city welfare administrator, people will stop fussing about the needy for a while.

They never remember the "forgotten few."

The "few" are people, who, by reason of physical or mental disability, are unemployable. They require social assistance allowances.

Social assistance—that is what the provincial government, which pays 80 per cent, and the municipalities, which pay 20 per cent, call it.

This is what it is—in monthly cash payments to people who have assets of no more than $250 and no income.

Single men and women get $50 a month.

A family of two gets $76.50.

A family of three gets $92.50.

A family of four, $108.50.

Five, $124.50.

Six, $140.50.

Seven, $156.50.

This money, say provincial and municipal authorities, should cover food, shelter and "sundries."

Care for Four on $108.50 Month

The physically and mentally disabled.

The vast majority of single persons involved are over 50 years of age.

They're living in a limbo between the employed and the pensioned. "A lot of them have five or more years to wait for that extra $25," Mr. Hooson said.

The families are mainly women with dependent children. Their husbands have either died or deserted.

The Health and Welfare Centre encourages mothers to stay home where they can care for their families. However, if they work, they are allowed to earn $20 a month without forfeiting their right to social assistance. Three-fourths of their earnings above that amount is deducted.

Accurate' Missile By U.S. Before 1960

WASHINGTON (CP)—Major Gen. Bernard Schriever, U.S. Air Force missile chief, predicted Sunday that the United States will have an "accurate enough" 3,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile ready by the end of 1959.

ST. LAURENT NOT RETIRING

OTTAWA (CP)—Retired Liberal leader St. Laurent indicated today he has no immediate intention of stepping completely out of public life.

Responding in the Commons to good wishes and expressions of regret at his decision to relinquish his party's leadership, Mr. St. Laurent, who will be 76 Feb. 1, said "I am not taking leave of the House at this moment."

He said he is dedicated to the removal from office of the Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the position of prime minister taxes health and strength, and then added quickly:

"But I'm back here better than ever."

The prime minister was confined to bed most of last week because of a severely strained back.

Earlier today a Liberal parliamentary caucus left in the hands of Mr. Pearson the decision on whether to topple the Diefenbaker government this afternoon and force a general election.

Informants said after the closed meeting of senators and Commons members that individuals expressed varied views but that no vote on the critical issue was taken and that it was left to Mr. Pearson to decide between the 12:50 p.m. (9:50 p.m. EST) breakup of the caucus and the opening of the House sitting this afternoon.

Mr. Pearson, emerging from the meeting, said:

"Any decision I reach as the result of the caucus will be made between now and the opening of the sitting and announced to the Commons."

FORGOTTEN FEW

...dressed from the family's allowance. The same rule applies to me with dependents."

"We usually overlook the earnings of children," Mr. Hooson said.

Here are some other things that are overlooked:

Of 50, a single person is expected to pay 12.50 a month for shelter.

"I doubt if anyone can find a room for less than $25," Mr. Hooson said. "That leaves $25 for food."

Of $108.50, a family of four is expected to pay $24.50 for shelter and $77.50—63 cents a day per person—for food.

What happens? "They pay more rent and eat less food," he said.

"They move into a low rental district and for the first six months their debts pile up."

"Then they start to get used to living on almost nothing."

"But after the first year, their problems flare up again. The kids' clothing starts to go and they need new shoes. And there's just no money."

Apart from financial worries, the "forgotten few" often have personal troubles, he said.

"Some women have to cope with alcoholic husbands, others with men who cannot hold a job," he said. "In other cases, the children who have been forced into a poor environment get mixed up with trouble-makers."

Or someone in the family gets sick and although people on relief are completely covered under a medical scheme, that doesn't release them from the worry that comes with illness.

Those are just a few of the problems that are facing 765 Victorians, Mr. Hooson said.

In succeeding articles we will consider actual cases and, finally, with what Mr. Hooson feels is the only possible solution.

German-Born Max Kilburger Dies in Store

Max Kilburger, owner of Kilburger's Jewellers at 703 Fort, died today in his store, apparently of a heart attack.

He was 80.

Police responded to a call a few minutes before 10. Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, he was pronounced dead.

Mr. Kilburger, in business here about 45 years, in several locations, was well-respected in the trade.

"He seemed to do little but work," said one former employee, "and never really mixed much with others in the business."

Born in Germany, he lived at 88 Obed.

Among survivors is the widow, Bertha. There were no children.

Canadian Army Chiefs Study Atomic Warfare

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP)—A four-day study of atomic warfare opened here today, with Canadian Armoured Corps, artillery and infantry commanders participating.

The army said Maj-Gen. John M. Rockingham is directing the study, during which concepts of atomic warfare under winter conditions will be discussed. Light aircraft and snow vehicles were to be used for reconnaissance and engineers were to test ice and snow conditions to study the moving of guns and heavy equipment in winter.

Other problems would include defensive tactics, withdrawal and counter-attack under modern battlefield conditions.

Officials of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. are on hand to advise on the movement of reactor equipment across ice-filled water obstacles.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Death from cancer Saturday ended the colorful 35-year congressional career of Senator Matthew M. Neely, 83-year-old West Virginia Democrat and a severe critic of President Eisenhower.

He was 80.

SNEAK THIEVES GET $10,000

TORONTO (CP)—Michael Blum, 28, assistant manager of the downtown Imperial Theatre, said about $10,000 in weekend receipts disappeared today a few minutes after he opened his office.

He told police he stepped outside for a minute, leaving the safe door unlocked, but the office door locked. When he returned the money was gone. Employees said they noticed two youths leaving the building by a side door.

B.C. to Recruit Teachers in U.K.

C. B. Wood, a former member of the teacher-training staff at Victoria Normal School and until recently U.B.C. registrar, leaves for Britain soon to recruit teachers for the B.C. department of education.

The department has sent an emissary to Britain for the last three years.

Each year there has been an increase in the number of teachers who have emigrated under the department's plan, with a rise from 50 in 1955 to 85 last year.

Scientists Doubt Sputnik Sighting

Scientists at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Stanich Mountain, are skeptical over reports that the Russian's Sputnik II was seen over Vancouver and Victoria Sunday evening. (See page 25.)

"We believe that if the Sputnik was seen at all it would have been around 5.15 p.m. Sunday and not 8 p.m. as reported," a scientist said.

"If anyone wants to watch for it tonight, we would suggest they look out between 5.15 and 5.45 p.m."

The Sputnik will, as usual, be travelling across the sky from northwest to southeast, but unless it catches the sun's rays no one will see it.

Weather reports do not suggest the Sputnik will be visible. Weatherman Bill Mackie expects the sky will again be overcast this evening as it was Sunday at that time.

As the radio batteries fitted into the Sputnik II are believed to be dead, no radio signals have been received for some time.

Notice of Meeting of Debentureholders

NOTICE is hereby given that a meeting of the holders of the debentures of Imperial Investment Corporation Limited (the "Company") issued under the "Trust Deed" dated for reference the 14th day of January, 1955, made by the Company in favour of National Trust Company Limited (hereinafter called the "Trustee") and containing supplemental thereto, will be held at 1411-1510 West Hastings Street, in the City of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, on the 13th day of February, 1958, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, Pacific Standard Time, for the purpose of considering and passing, as an Extraordinary Resolution pursuant to the provisions of the Trust Deed, the following resolution:

That the meeting do assent to the Trust Deed dated for reference the 14th day of January, 1955, made by the Company in favour of National Trust Company Limited as Trustee, respecting the Company's Debentures being amended as follows:

- By deleting from Section 1.01 (Interpretation Clause) the definitions of "company", "earnings period", "net assets", "consolidated assets", "net current assets" and "net earnings of the company" as therein contained.
- By inserting in Section 1.01 aforesaid the following definitions: "Net earnings" means the amount remaining after deducting from the income from all sources (excluding profits from the sale of capital assets and excluding capital profits as distinguished from operating profits) of the Company and its Subsidiary Companies, all operating expenses and charges of the Company and of its Subsidiary Companies, including in such expenses, but without limiting the generality of the foregoing, taxes, other than income taxes, and other like taxes) retails, royalties, charges on premiums and other charges on all indebtedness except interest on the Debentures outstanding under this Agreement and on other obligations ranking equally with the Series One and Series Two Debentures, and provision for depreciation, and making appropriate provision for the payment of interest on the Debentures, and all other charges and expenses of the Company in accordance with sound accounting practice.
- By deleting Section 3.01 and substituting therefor the following: "The aggregate of the Company or subsidiary means a company or corporation the majority of the outstanding voting stock of which is for the time being owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by or for the Company and includes any company or corporation in like relation to a Subsidiary Company as the Company is to the Company, and all such companies or corporations shall have full voting rights under all circumstances."
